Havana. Havana, March 4, via Key West, Fla., March 4.- The government is holding 8,000 troops quartered in the fort of the city in readiness to suppress disorder and demonstrations against Americans here. Extra police guards are placed convenient at the American consulate.

The only manifestations of hostile feeling yet were a few shouts, "Death to Uncle Sam!" while the new troops were landing Tuesday, and hisses around the cab in Politics Are All Astir in Republican which two Americans were driving in a side street. There are some apprehensions but no alarm among American residents. There is great confidence in the ability of Weyler to preserve order.

As an indication of the feeling, Wilson, proprietor of an American bookstore, who happens to be an Englishman, removed the sign in front of his store Monday night, preferring not to invite attack. The better treatment of Americans here than at Barcelona or Madrid is largely due to the fact that the populace there is Spanish and here Cubans. The students here, both Spanish and Cubans, are friendly to the Cuban property holders and merchants, also many Spanish, whose market is in the states, are more pleased than otherwise by the action of congress, as intervention, meaning an early restoration of quiet, would save many from bankrutpcy. Even loyal Spaniards admit this. Such hostility as is shown is confined here to the office holding class and others receiving bounty.

The Cubans here were jubilant when the news of the prompt action of the house was received. The main body of insurgents, instead of continuing eastward as expected, returned to Havana province in great numbers, leaving a large force of troops

Circles-McKinley Seems To Have the Best of It.

Jackson, Miss., March 4.-The republican state convention today brought about a complete dissolution of the slender ties that have for years bound the two warring fac tions in this state together and that element of the party which has followed the fortune of John R. Lynch are stamped as To explain the situation it is necessary to go back to January last, at which time the republican state executive committee met here and selected a sub-committee of eleven to pass on all contests, the same to be ratified by the entire committee before the convention met. This sub-committee has been in session since Monday, and at 10 o'clock today reported to the full committee.

Both these committees were favorable to Hill, he having seven on the sub-committee of eleven and forty-nine on the full executive committee of ninety, so that he easily carried every point.

The meeting of the executive committee was a stormy one, the Lynch men fighting every inch of ground and dying in the last ditch. The convention was entitled to 266 delegates, and of these, Hill seated a majority of his own men.

A resolution was adopted that admittance to the convention hall should be only on tickets issued by the chairman of the sub-committee, Hon. John McGill, a Hill supporter, and that contestants were to be excluded. The Lynch faction protested and declined to ask for tickets, but after a caucus decided to demand admission without tickets.

At 4 o'clock, Lynch, at the head of his followers, went to the opera house door in a body and asked admission. Tickets were offered them but were declined, and they crossed the street to another hall, where they held a Lynch convention.

The Hill Meeting.

The Hill crowd held an orderly meeting in the opera house, presided over by John McGill, of Jackson; T. V. McAllister, of Vicksburg, secretary. Several speeches were made, one by ex-Governor Pinchback, of Louisiana, and the following delegates and alternates selected to attend the St. Louis convention:

From the State at Large-James Hill, Jackson: John S. Burton, Holly Springs; A. M. Lea, Vicksburg; E. W. Lampton, Greenville. Alternates-N. A. Anderson, Vicksburg; W. B. Sorsby, Jackson; W. A. Alcorn, Friars Point; W. E. Mask, Wi-

While it is uninstructed, the delegation is solidly for Major McKinley.

A resolution to instruct them to vote for him first, last and all the time, was re-jected. Two colored men from Memphis were introduced, and spoke in favor of Colonel William R. Moore, of Meminis, as was asked in his behalf.

The resolutions adopted reaffirm faith in and allegiance to the time-honored principles of the republican party as set forti in the platform adopted at the last repub can national convention. They hall with delight recent republican victories and accept them as evidence of a lack of public confidence in the administrative ability of the democratic party, and the results of elections in Maryland, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri and North Carolina are taken as "harbingers of the approach of the dawn that shall ere long usher Mississippi into the light of true political liberty." They denounced the Hill crowd in vigorous terms, declaring Lynch had a large majority of the delegates, but that they were systematically robbed by the subcommittee.

The following are the Lynch delegates to the national convention: John R. Lynch, of Natchez; W. E. Molleson, of Vicksburg; M. A. Montgomery, of Oxford; F. W. Collins, of Summit. Alternates: L. B. Rome, March 4 .- It is stated that General Baldissera is due to arrive at Asmara, toward which place the Italian troops are said to be retreating, on the 6th instant, and that there he will meet General Baratieri. Advices from Massowah say he has already assumed charge. Long official dispatches from Massowah, under the date of March 3d, give the technical details of the positions and movements of the Italian troops engaged in Sunday's battle with the Abyssinians. According to these advices the troops in the morning occupied two ridges in the vicinity of Adowah, but they were compelled to abandon these positions by immense phalanxes of the enemy. Baratieri's Report. General Baratieri's report of the battle fought between Italian troops in Africa and Abyssinians opposing them, has been received by the government. The report exrlains why the Italians were obliged to make the attack upon the Abyssinians as they did and why the former were defeated. General Albertone's brigade, the report says, had advanced too far and had lost contact with the main army. To protect them General Baratieri was obliged to move forward. White troops of Albertone's command could not resist the assaults of the Abyssinians, and fell back in disorder, hindering artillery from taking position, The black troops of the brigade were braver and fought with more valor and vigor than the whites. It is difficult, General Baratieri says, to ascertain the Italian losses accurately. Large numbers of men, who are supposed to be dead or have been taken prisoners,

The charges against Baratieri are based upon his own admission that he left the field while the troops under his command were fighting, without knowing the fate of the columns under Generals Dabormida and Arimondi, and retreated 100 kilometers in twenty-four hours.

A dispatch to the Central News from Rome, says that of the 247 officers under General Baratieri who took part in the battle against the Abyssinians on Sunday only forty returned. During the fifty years of his administration of the affairs of the diocese he encountered and overcame many obstacles. The celebration of his golden jubilee occurred on November 30, 1891, and was characterized by such brilliant and imposing religious ceremonies as were never before witnessed on the American continent. Owing to his advanced years the venerable prelate has of late been unable to properly administer the affairs of the diocese and many unsuccessful attempts were made to induce him to consent that a coadjutor be appointed. It was well known that he desired that the late Father Brady, coadjutor be appointed. It was well known, that he desired that the late Father Brady, vicar general of the diocese, should succeed him as archbishop, but owing to the manifest opposition from a number of the clergy to the appointment of Father Brady, the archbishop labored as best he could without the assistance of coadjutor until in 1894 Bishop John J. Kain, of Wheeling, W. Va., was appointed to that office. On September 5, 1895, Bishop Kenrick withdrew from the administration of the affairs and since which time he has lived the life of a recluse in the magnificent residence on Lindell boulevard, presented to him by the Catholics of St. Louis on the occasion of his golden jubilee.

Washington. Washington, March 4 .- (Special.) - Secre

ary Carlisle is to be the administration's date for president. Though Mr. Carlisle has as yet made no announcement, his intimate friends understand that he would not be averse to accepting the nomination. He wants it, however, on a straightout gold platform. On such a platform Mr. Carlisle has convinced himself that he can win, arguing that the republicans will straddle the financial question and that such a straddle will cause the gold republicans to vote for him. He is said to argue further that if the democrats nominate him on a gold platform and the republicans straddle there will be a silver candidates in the field. That candidate will draw some from the democrats and largely from the republicans. But he seems to believe that he would draw largely from the republican ranks in the east and be elected.

In this Mr. Carlisle does not seem take into consideration the fact that the silver democrats stand more than an even chance of controlling the democratic con vention. According to the figuring of Mr. Carlisle's friends there will be a majority of anti-free coinage delegates in the coi vention. That is denied by the free coinage democrats, but assuming it to be true, it is certain they will not have two-third and it takes that to nominate.

Mr. Carlisle is counting upon more than he can possibly get. Even with all the force of the administration behind him he cannot be nominated on such a platform as he would choose.

The assertion that the gold men can co trol the democratic convention and will do so is absurd. The administration has not the power to select a sufficient number o delegates, and the best the gold men hope for is a repetition of the 1892 platform with a man who is against silver as a candi-Date That Gold Beserve Juggling.

The proceeds of the recent sale of bonds has increased the sum in the treasury to amount of $280,000,000. The administration people hold that this furnishes enough money to run the government until March 1, 1897, when a new president will come in and when some very puzzling financial problems will be dumped upon him.

While there is plenty of money to carry on the government for a long time, the gold reserve is not much over the $100,000,000 mark and it may be drawn below that figure

Of the sum in the treasury only $103,000,000 is in legal tender noes; thus outside of the treasury and in circulation there is some $380,000,000 of legal tender notes, which could be used in drawing upon the gold reerve in the treasury. The treasury depart notes which it has. It is doing this to pre vent further withdrawals of gold.

By the treasury officials it is held that 'the recent bond issues have caused the national banks to increase their circulation. During the month of February national banks took out $5,000,000 in currency. Comptroller Eckels says he expects a large amount of national bank notes to be called for on bonds recently purchased by banks, About $6,000,000 of the recent issue of bonds have been delivered to the treasury by banks for the purpose of getting circulation upon them. At the treasury department there is much fear that brokers and others who sold their gold to bond purchasers will replenish the amount kept on hand by drawing on the reserve very soon. A large portion of the gold used in purchasing the bonds was obtained upon contracts stipulating its return within thirty or sixty days, and it is feared that these returns will be made from the

The administration people will not admit that another bond issue in the near future is probable, but those on the outside who watched the progress of events fear that the gold reserve will soon fall below the reserve point.

Japanese Cheap Goods.

The importation of manufactured Japanese goods and the question of how to meet cheap Japanese manufactured articles in the markets of this country, not to speak of those abroad, is giving some of our protection and anti-silver statesmen much alarm.

The manufacturers of the country are clamoring for some means to keep these Japanese goods out of our market, but they do not know just how to do it. It will take either a high tariff wall, or else the free coinage of silver-perhaps both-to prevent this competition.

The Japanese manufacturers not only get labor cheap, but they pay that labor in silver, which, at the present rate of exchange, is only worth 50 cents on the dollar, and sell their goods for gold. Thus they have an advantage in money alone of 100 per cent over our manufacturer. And the Japs are now manufacturing almost everything that we make in America. They have not only sent their young men to our military and naval academies to be educated in the science of war, but they have sent them to study our manufacturing interests, and they have become adepts. Much American and English capital is invested in manufacturing in Japan, and the Japanese are imitating almost everything we manufacture. Japan has no patent laws. They can make any of our patented articles and sell them throughout the world. They can manufacture cotton goods from cotton bought in this country and ship the goods here selling them in our markets cheaper than we send gold watches over here and sell them heaper than our Waterburys.

Everybody has read about the Japs sending bicycles here and selling them in San Francisco for $15 each. They are exact mitations of the bicycles manufactured and sold here for $100. The Japs are also manufacturing paper, which can be sent here and sold cheaper than we can make it in America. With the advantage they have of 100 per cent in money on account of the appreciation of gold, they will continue to build up manufactories and will in time drive many of our factories out of our own market. What we are going to do about it is a question which is agitating our statesmen very much. Mrs. Stanford Not Personally Liable. The supreme court has decided that Mrs. Leland Stanford is not personally liable for the debts of the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

It will be remembered that last year sui was brought against the Stanford estate to make it liable for the debts of the Central Pacific railroad, which Senator Stanford, with Mr. Huntington and two others, was instrumental in building. When the suit was brought Mrs. Stanford made a public statement that if it was decided against her she would be forced to close the great Stanford university, in California, which she has been maintaining since the death of her husband. By those interested in this great institution of learning the news of he decision of the supreme court will be heard with interest and pleasure. Harlan rendered the decision, lding that no obligation was meant to be placed by the government on the stockholders of the company. This settles the matter. Mrs. Stanford will retain her great forune and will continue to use it largely for the education of American youth.

This decision applies as well to Mr. Huntington and the estates of the two other of the quartet who assumed the esponsibility of building the road. E. W. B.

DUPONT'S ELECTION DISCUSSED Facts Are Considered, but There Is a Fine Legal Point Involved.

Washington, March 4.-The senate enter ed today on the consideration of the question whether Henry A. Dupont has been or not legally elected United States senator from the state of Delaware. Although the facts in the case are conceded on both sides of the chamber, the legal point is one on which the two political parties take opposite views and on that opposition hinges a dispute which may occupy the time of the senate for weeks to come. It seems that in the Delaware joint assembly on the 9th of May, 1895, Mr. Dupont received fifteen votes out of a total of thirty cast. But as to one of the thirty votes it is contended on the part of Mr. Dupont that it was illegal and void, it having been Mr. Watson, a senator who had on the death of the governor, succeeded to that office and who could not, as claimed by the republican members of the committee on privileges and elections, legally or constitutionally act as senator. In that case the total legal votes cast being only 29, Mr. Dupont would have received a majority and would be entitled to a seat in the enate. The contention on the part of the democratic members of the committee is that the exercise of the duties of governor by Mr. Watson did not divest him of his rights as a state senator and that, at all events, that was a question to be determined by the senate of Delaware and not by the senate of the United States.

Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, made the opening argument in favor, of the right of Mr. Dupont. He spoke for three and a half hours and had not concluded his speech when the matter was laid aside for the day.

The senate disagreed to the house substitute for the senate concurrent resolution as to Cuba, and a conference with the house was requested—the senate conferees being Senators Sherman, republican, of Ohio: Morgan, democrat, of Alabama, and Lodge, republican, of Massachusetts-all members of the committee on foreign rela-

The trust company secured the injunction on the ground that the parties restrained are indebted to it in the sum of $92,500, loaned last November for the purchase of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad. It is contended that the construction company was organized to take the stock of the Marietta and North Georgia Railroad Company, which in time was to transfer the stock to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad. The latter is soon to be incorporated, and the individual defendants, it is alleged, bound themselves in the amount of $10,060 each for the settlement

HOPE FOR HOLMES SEEMS TO BE SLIN

Verdict of the Oyer Court Has Been Confirmed.

MAY END APPEALS

District Attorney Graham Says There Are No More Outlets.

RESUME OF JUSTICE WILLIAMS'S DECISION

Lawyer Rotan, Counsel for Holmes Will Not Give Out a Statement of His Intentions.

Philadelphia, March 4.- The state supreme court this morning affirmed the verdict of murder in the first degree in the case of Herman Mudget, alias H. H. Holmes, who was found guilty in the court of over of this city for the murder of Benjamin F: Pietzel.

The opinion which was delivered by Justice Williams overrules all the assignments of error and affirms the judgment of the lower court. It holds that no substantial error was pointed out and that the evidence fully sustains the verdict. Lawyer Samuel P. Rotan, of counsel for Holmes, this afternoon conveyed the finding of the court to his client.

The recent action of Holmes in request ing Archbishop Ryan, of the Roman Catholic church to send a clergyman to him and the subsequent visit to the condemned man of Rev. Dr. P. J. Daily, rector of the Church of the Annunciation, is believed to indicate that Holmes gave up hope of securing a new trial before the decision of the supreme court was made. Now that the highest tribunal in the state has decided that the alleged slayer of Pietzel shall hang, the visits of Father Daily will probably be made regularly.

District Attorney Graham, who prose cuted Holmes, is authority for the statement that the case cannot be appealed to the supreme court of the United States and that the decision of the state supreme court is final. In the opinion, Justice Williams says:

"This is a voluminous record. An examination of it shows that the trial of the defendant furnished some unlooked for situations and dramatic incidents but no one of them seems to have been the result of anything irregular or sensational in the manner of ruling of the learned trial judge (Judge Arnold.) On the other hand it is apparent that they were due to the circumstances with which the defeandant has surrounded himself and to his interference with the usual methods of trial. Indeed the assignments of error have been intended to raise no questions except such as may be haracterized as general questions of law. "The first, second, third and fourth assignments relate to the admissibility of the testimony of Georgianna Yoke, who was called as a witness by the commonwealth and whom the defendant alleged to be his lawful wife. At the time this witness was called there was evidence before the court showing that the defendant had an estab state of Illinois, which was known, at least to some of his acquaintances, as his home, where as H. H. Holmes he lived with a woman who was understood to be his wife. There was nothing in the name her testimony to suggest that she was the wife of the prisoner. An objection to her competency taken when she was first called and examined would have had nothing on which to rest. "At a late stage of the trial she was recalled by the defendant and examined up on this subject. She then stated that the had been married to the prisoner by a clergyman in the city of Denver in January. 1894, but that she learned before his previously to a woman living in Gilman ton, N. H., who she understood to be still living. She had heard still earlier of the woman at Wilmette, but did not understand that Howard had been lawfully mar-

Marriage Was Not Valid.

"The witness was apparently satisfied that her marriage was not valid. She had resumed the use of her maiden name. As she was competent, prima facie, when called and examined, the burden of showing her incompetency was on the prisoner who alleged it. The testimony of Miss given for that purpose and it was all the vidence upon that subject.

"The fair effect of it was to show that no legal marriage had taken place; that Miss Yoke had been cruelly deceived, and that the legal wife of the prisoner lived at Gilmanton, N. H. The learned judge would have been justified in denying what the prisoner's counsel complain that he did not do, viz: Treat this question of competency as a question of law, and overrule the ob ection to her testimony at once. What he did was more favorable to the prisoner that he had a right to ask. He submitted the question of the legality of the marriage to the jury, instructing them that if they found it to be valid they should reject the testimony of the witness altogether. We do not see how the prisoner can expect suc-cessfully to complain of a ruling that gave him one more chance for a favorable decision upon the question of the competency of the witness than he had a right to ask." The other well-known features of the ease are discussed at length.

Lawyer Rotan said this afternoon "I am sorry that we failed, but what course we shall now take will be determined upon at a conference with my associate n the case, Attorney Monn, and it is too early to discuss that point."

SIGHT FAST FAILING. Charles Broadway Rouss Will Soon Be

Totally Blind. New York, March 4.-An evening paper says within a very few weeks Charles Broadway Rouss, the eccentric Broadway merchant, will be totally blind. The oculists who have been treating him have given up all hope of saving his sight, which has been rapidly leaving him, despite all their efforts. With characteristic courage Mr. Rouss treats his affliction lightly and says he might as well be blind as dead, for if he obeyed the doctors and retired from business to give his eyes a rest he would surely die of ennul.

Few men in mercantile life have been more talked about than Charles Broadway Rouss since he came to this city from Winchester, Va., in 1865. His eccentricities almost place him in the category of cranks and it is considered remarkable by the con-servative old merchants who do business him that he has been able to build up a fortune of several millions of dollars within a score of years. He is well known in the south for his liberal contribut to confderate memorials and charities.

Richmond, Va., March 4 .- (Special)-One of the most serious personal encounters that ever occurred in the Virginia senate chamber took place here this afternoon shortly before the assembling of that body Those directly interested were Senators H

Inspector Guimarin Drew the Line Against Cart Drivers and Sweepers.

WOULDN'T CALL THEIR ROLL

Mr. Guimarin Was Directed To Call the Roll of Street Sweepers, but Declined.

W. B. Guimarin is plumbing inspector working in connection with the city sanitary department. He is decidedly of the pinion that he is plumbing inspector and nothing else. As an evidence of that opinion Mr. Guimarin is now under suspension for declining to perform another duty at the direction of Chief Veal. Last Friday morning Mr. Guimarin was nstructed to call the roll of one of the city cart gangs. He said that he was not on for that purpose and politely but declined to perform the duty assigned him by Chief Veal. The result was that the plumbing inspector was suspended within ten minutes by the chief. The same afternoon Mr. Guimarin's case came up before the board of health and upon complaint of Chief Veal, Mr. Guimarin was suspended for fifteen days for insubordination in the particular mentioned. He is now under that suspension and another man is performing his duties as plumbing Mr. Guimarin could not be found yesterday afternoon but it is understood that he is averse to an enlargement of his duties to the extent that he is required to mix with a lot of negroes, dirty cart drivers. He looks upon his calling as of a much higher order than calling names of cari And true to his colors he maintained his position even at the disobeying an order of Chief Veal, the of the senitary department, under which department the plumbing inspector works. It appears that on last Friday morning Sanitary Inspecor Joiner was sick and unable to go to work. Inspector Guimarin was at the sanitary inspector's office and in the absence of Inspector Joiner, Chief Veal asked Mr. Guimarin to call the roll of the third division of cart drivers and street sweepers, the division commanded Inspector Joiner. That kind of work was out of the line of Mr. Guimarin's idea of his duty and he looked up in surprise. He ould not see for the life of him how a plumbing inspector's duty had any possible onnection with the calling of a treet scavanger men, negroes at that. It was too much. After a moments' reflection and consideration of the whole question Mr. Guimarin made up his mind that he did not propose to associate with the darkies by even cal ing their names and he so informed Chief Veal. He respectfully declined to obey the mandate of the chief and it was then that war was declared. In a jiffy the chief is-sued an order suspending Mr. Guimarin and the city was left without the important officer termed a plumbing inspector.

That afternoon the board of health held meeting and the case was referred to it. Evidence pro and con was introduced and the result was that the board promulgated order approving the suspension made by thief Veal in the morning and declaring to of force for fifteen days from that date. Another inspector is now performing Mr Guimarin's duties.

The refusal of the plumbing inspector to call the roll had the effect of taking his name off the pay rolls for fifteen days, but it is said that he prefers that to getting down among the third division of fart drivers and street sweepers. The incident has been talked about a great deal since its occurrence but was well guarded

SUGAR AND NO QUORUM.

Discussion of the Saccharin Substance Was Lively.

Berlin, March 4.-The taking up of the sugar bill in the reichstag today was the cause of a scene of great excitement in the chamber. When the measure came up Herr Richter, the radical leader, sprang the ground that there was no quorum present. Before he had ceased speaking nembers began to troop into the chamber ntil there were many more than the number requisite for a quorum in attendance A call of the chamber was made but while the counting was in progress Herr Richter induced the members of the socialist, freisinnige and volks parties to leave the house, whereupon the members of right became greatly enraged. V Richter's name was called he did not respond and the conclusion of the count disclosed the fact that only 165 deputies had answered to their names—not a quorum.

At this announcement the rights became furnous and their angry shouts could be heard above the derisive utterances of the opposition. The government failing to count a quorum, consideration of the bill was consequently delayed.

The judge acquiesced in the motion and said he considered that it was an entirely proper proceeding. The motion was then put and carried unanimously, whereupon Mr. Brown, the attorney who made the motion, read the first chapter of II Peter, and State Solicitor Stewart Brooks led in prayer. The large assemblage rose during the ceremony and the occasion was most impressive. An attorney from this city, who was present, says that an air of ven eration and respectful dignity that he had not seen for many a year pervaded the court during the day, and he believes that to inaugurate similar proceedings in every art of justice in the state would not only court of justice in the state would not only have a good moral effect, but would be conducive to the more universal dispensation of fairness and equity. Other attorneys here, to whose attention the matter has been called, indorse the proposition cordially and it is probable that some of them will communicate with the different court officials in the state and suggest the propriety of the practice being made universal.

The Gulf Lumber Company. Articles of incorporation were filed in th probate office here yesterday afternoon for the Gulf Lumber Company. The incorpora-tors are J. C. Haas and Sidney G. Wiel, of Montgomery, and John A. Graham, of Chicago. The capital stock is $50,000. The principal place of business is Montgomery, Ala. The company will do a general lumber and manufacturing business. A Large Mill for Colera. Calera, Ala., is to have a large lumber nill in the near future. The Holcomb mill in the near future. The Holcomb & Pratt Lumber Company's plant, situated six miles northeast of that place. is now being moved there, and when in operation will prove of great benefit to that town. The Birmingham Machine and Foundry Company is building a large engine for the plant.

Aldermen Will Act Court.

The city council last night passed a resolution in the shape of an ordinance, the resolution in the shape of an ordinance, the intent of which is to require the members of the police force and other city officials to pay their bills. The ordinance provides that when a city official falls behind in his dealings with merchants and others the creditor may file a complaint against him with the council, and a committee shall be appointed to look into the case and ascertain if the claim is justly due. If it is so found to be and the officer reclines to pay it, he shall be impeached and suspended from the force. A great many think that the council has sought to invade the province of the courts and that the law is not only unjust, but unconstitutional.

Apparently an Injustice. A gentleman from Troy, Ala., is authority for the statement that Mrs. E. D. ity for the statement that Mrs. E. D. Simmons, who was recently arrested at Elton, in Geneva county, charged with having feloniously used cancelled postage stamps on letters, was acquitted before Judge Asa Stratton today, no evidence having been developed that she was guilty as charged. Mrs. Simmons's arrest appears to have been a great outrage. She is a woman of high character and gentle breeding, and was postmistress at Eaton. The details of the alleged offense are not known here, but District Attorney Clayton went from here to prosecute the case against her and did not even have it called, seeing fit to nol prosse it for want of evidence. Mrs. Simmons is a daughter of the late Judge G. T. Elberton, who was one of the best known and most highly respected men in Alabama in his time, and a member of the constitutional convention of Alabama.

Of the present council Branham, lius, Chidsey, Glover and Lowry hold over for another twelve months.

There are many questions of importance to come up before the new council, chief among which is the issuance of new bonds to beet the present indebtedness of the city, and it is hoped that they can be negotiated at 416 per cent, as the present finance com mittee has been offered 5 per cent already for the bonds when issued. This council has succeeded in paying $10,000 of the $30,000 floating debt which was in existence when Mr. Moore was elected.

Individually Responsible.

One binding provision of the charter of Rome is calculated to inspire extra caution among councilmen. That is that the members of the council are made individually liable when they fall to make the income meet the appropriations made by the council for the expenses of any year.

If the council, as a body, appropriates more mony in avance than is realized from the revenues of the city, then suit may be brought against the members individually for the forthcoming of the cash.

There is a strong current of public opinion in favor of the creation of a police commission for Rome, so as to remove the police department from political influences.

His Full Crookedness Discovered in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., March 4.—(Special.)— Clarence Sheftall, who was convicted re-cently in the city court of keeping a policy lottery and fined $750 or six months in jail, has skipped town, leaving behind him about $1,500 of forged notes. This was discovered yesterday by Messrs. Hull & Lathrop, private bankers, with whom he left a note for $500 made in his favor by Hen-ry Gecks, and which bore the forged indorsement of Solomon Sheftall, his uncle, who is worth considerable money. This was a niety-day note, dated November 0th, which was the cause of the fraud not being discovered earlier. Warrants charging him with forgery ave been issued, and Messrs. Hull & Lathrop, have attached all his gambling apparatus. It is understood he has left behind him $1,000 more in notes bearing forged indorsements. The officers are making a diligent search for him.

BROWN GOES IN.

A New Secretary Chosen by the Water Board Yesterday.

WAS AN EXCITING ELECTION

Superintendent Woodward Files a Re port of Much Interest-Details of the Session.

The water board convened in regular northly session vesterday morning in the general committee room next to the may or's office in the city hall.

Of the nine chairs arranged around the long table upon which the water commissioners scatter their papers and over which the members deliberate, there was not an empty one when Mr. Hillyer, president of the beard, called the body to order. Besides every member of the board, all of the officers connected with that department of the city government were present, while a large number of Atlantians interested in the race for secretary to the board booked for the day was in attendance. Mr. Torbett, member of the board from the fifth ward, who has been doing the work of secretary, presented the records of the department since the last meeting of that body and a history of the las meeting of the board. It was then suggested that the rules be suspended and the election of a secretary to the board be proceeded with. This was what the visitors wanted and as the suggestion was agreed to the large throng pushed close around the long table so as to see and hear all that transpired. The question of salary was disposed of by putting the figures at $1,500 a year. While Mr. Terry was secretary the salary was $1,800 a year.

Before the president there was quite bunch of letters and each one was a re-quest for the place—along with the request coming in each case a long list of references and indorsements. After these had been read President Hillyer stated that the board was ready to entertain nominations.

"Then," said Mr. Johnsen, who succeeded Mr. Zach Smith from the taird ward "I desire to place before this board the name of Mr. Cephas Brown, a young man not only thoroughly equipped for the work, but a young man entertaining the respect and esteem of all who know him." "I desire," said President Hillyer from the chair, "to second that nomination and in doing so wish to say that I have known Mr. Brown for years. In fact, since his childhood. I was in practical touch with him when he was young through the Poughkeepsie college and knew that he acquitted himself handsomely. Besides being a good accountant, Mr. Brown is a good machinist and though that is not necessary with a secretary to the board of water commissioners, it won't go

"I indorse," said Mr. Erwin, "every word President Hillyer has said about Mr. Brown. I know it all to be true and for that reason I indorse it. But I desire to name a candidate for the place-not only a candidate, but the man who should have it. I mean a man who has done as much for the water department of Atlanta as any one in the city-a man who is conversant with every detail of the work, whether in is the man who has shown the wretched system of accounts and bocks in the superinten lent's office and who has straight-ened things out on that line, for which this body has thanked him. I mean the member of this board from the fifth ward and its acting secretary-Mr. M. B. Tor No other nominations were made and he secretary called the roll.

The voting strength of the board when complete is nine, but only eight votes were cast, the missing vote being that of Mr. Torbett, who did not vote on account of his candidacy. There was but one roll call and that

For Torbett-Winship, Howell, Erwin-2. For Brown-President Hillyer, Mayor King, Mr. Haas, Mr. Johnson and Mr.

To some the result was a surprise, while to others it was only what was expected.

Mr. Brown is now at the head of the clerical department of the Central railroad and is one of the most successful young men of the city and will make a good man in the superintendent's office. Immediately after the election the officers submitted their reports. One of the most interesting papers the board has had in years was the report of the superintendent of the department for February. Not only did the paper cover that de-partment, but gave a synoptical review of the regular reports of all the departments

Not only did the paper cover that department, but gave a synoptical review of the regular reports of all the departments of the system to Colonel Woodward. In his report Colonel Woodward said:

"The new thirty-inch main is now laid and has been tested to Bradley avenue, $200 feet from pumping station and within 500 feet of Marietta street, and weather permitting the main will be laid to Marietta street within twenty-four hours and will be ready for testing to that point by Friday morning. The distance from Curran street to North avenue is 2,898 feet with a fail of only about three feet from Bellwood avenue to North avenue, and there is no provision for a valve between these points. Marietta street is a business street and in case of a Freak in the main between these points the whole pipe would have to be drained and leave that part of the street without fire protection. I therefore recommend the purchase of a special fitting 30x6 inch with opening at the bottom to be placed between Curran street and North avenue so as to drain pipe when necessary. If the weather permits by Monday will commence work on Marietta street and the work will be pushed forward day and night until completed. The pipe on hand will reach about 300 feet beyond North avenue.

"We have taken up about 6,000 feet of six-inch pipe purchased from the exposition company at the cost of $73.50 and will have all of this pipe out by Saturday night.

"I desire to call the attention of the board to the fact that the hydrant at the corner of Wilson avenue and Peachtree street has been tampered with by some one to such an extent as to make it useless. The socket for key to the valve stem has been broken entirely off. As a result the hydrant could not be used in the Akazar hotel fire on Monday night, the fire department having to make connections at Twelfth, street and Piedmont avenue for water, a distance of about 800 feet from the hotel.

"The report of the engines shows the following pumpage 265,558,643 gallons.

"Coal used during the month:

The property formerly belonged to the Mineola Lumber Company, which was composed of Mr. W. B. Lowe, of Atlanta lanta; J. R. Young, of Savannah; J. T. Roberts, of this city, and A. C. McLeod, of Jacksonville.

Messrs. Smith and Thomas, it is understood here, will spend $20,000 in improving the property at once and will have it in full operation in a short, while, It is said, too, that they will build the road from Mineola to Moultrie and that the link from here to Mineola will be completed immediately afterwards. It is generally understood that rails have already been bought stood that rails have already been bought to complete the line to Morven. This is the beginning of a line that may tap the Columbus Southern and give a much shorter route to Atlanta.

It is understood here that Mr. Thomas will manage the new mill and that about seventy convicts will be worked there. The deal has been pending here for several weeks. The people here are very much elated over the prospects of the new route, which is the third proposed here now.

SPEECH BY MR. WALSH. The Ex-Senator Addressed South Carolina's Assembly.

Columbia, S. C., March 4.- The Hon. Patrick Walsh, formerly senator from Georgia, that indefatigable worker for the adsouth, at the invitation of the general assembly this afternoon addressed that body on the scope, aims and purpose of the Southern States and Cotton exposition to be held at Chicago.

Mr. Walsh was greeted by a large audience, being escorted to the speaker's stand by a special legislative committee. Mr. Walsh made an able and forcible address of an hour's duration, which was vigorously applauded, and for which the general assembly passed resolutions expressing its ap-preciation. He depicted the grand possibilities of the southern states, spoke of their ities of the southern states, spoke of their wonderful and diversified resources and explained the necessity for showing to the people of the great west and northwest what they could find in the south, not only in agricultural, but also in manufacturing and industrial pursuits. He urged this state to send to Chicago the beautiful exhibit she had at Atlanta. This the general assembly has already provided. It may be stated that the exhibit will be greatly improved upon before it is forwarded.

REGARDING SKILLED LABOR.

Case of Four English Machinists Who Are Barred Out.

Washington, March 4. Secretary Carlisle and Commissioner General Stump gave a hearing this afternoon to several attorney representing cotton interests as to admit-ting into this country four machinists from England. These machinists were sent to this cou try by English manufacturers of cotton machines to set up the machines, which are imported in detached parts. Each man had a contract with the English firm and they were debarred from landing by the chief immigrant bureau as contract laberers. The attorneys representing various complicated machinery could set them up. The labor organizations contend that to allow these men to perferm such work would leprive American workmen of their just deserts. Among the attorneys engaged in the case was ex-Governor Russell,

OPENING OF THE MARCH TERM

Court Opens Next Wednesday Morning and Colonel Bill Day Will Be on Hand

The woes of the moonshiner will be disclosed to the merciful ears of Judge Newman next week. Colonel Bill Day will come down from the mountains next Monday morning for the purpose of taking care of the little block-ade distiller who has fallen into the hands of the revenue officers. Though Colonel Day is a strictly sober man himself and never indulges in the fascinating beverage, he is nevertheless moved to compassion for the infirmities of the moonshiner and is always ready to repre-sent him in court. If he finds it impossisent nim in court. If he finds it impossi-ble to establish the innocence of his éli-ent he tries to get him off as light as pos-sible, and generally succeeds. Colonel Day has mastered the science of the moonshine busness thoroughly so far as the legal aspect of that industry is con-cerned. Ever since the northern district of Georgia was first created by legislative enactment, Colonel Day has figured in the proceedings of the federal court as the champion of the north Georgia moon-It must not be hastily assumed that

Colonel Day is mercenary in his defense of the hopeless moonshiner. As a rule the man who cheats the government out of its revenue makes no odds of cheating a law-yer out of his fee, and Colonel Day fre-quently suffers from the application of this principle. As a matter of fact, Colonel Day is a big hearted man, and believes that the moonshiner is more sinned against than shining, by reason of the hardships of the internal revenue system. Before the war these same moonshiners were permitted to carry on their business without the pernicious system of spies which has since come about, and if the business of making whisky was legal and right once making whisky was legal and right once they see no reason why it should not be

Lumpkin, Ga., February 1, 1896,-Tell Uncle Remus and Frank Stan ton that we love them, among others on your staff, especially. Very truly, J. M. CALDWELL.

Governor McLaurin's Special Message. The special message of Governor Me Laurin to the Mississippi legislature urging that body to pass a law pro hibiting gold contracts, is a document that is worth the attention of every business man and farmer in the country. The message is short, but it is clear and strong and deals with one of the most important phases of the money question.

Every contract that is made payable in gold, by its terms, to that extent demonetizes the silver coin in circulation and discredits its use as debt-paying money. If A makes a contract with B by which he obligates himself to pay B on a certain date $10,000 in gold, then, so ar as this contract is concerned, $10. 000 in silver coin is demonetized, discredited, and the legal tender quality conferred on it by the government abolished and denied.

The amount of gold available for debtpaying purposes in the gold-using countries-including the United States-is utterly insignificant when compared with the amount of government, state, municipal, corporate and individual debts in these countries. There is not enough gold to pay even a trivial part of these debts. This is one reason why, when settlement day comes and gold or its equivalent is demanded, there are so many failures in business and so many corporations, once prosperous, are in the hands of receivers. The excessive demand for gold, compared with the amount of that metal that is available for business and debtpaying purposes, has already more than seen and felt in the depreciation, as compared with gold, of the prices of the products of human labor-the commodities with which nations as well as individuals pay their debts. The premium of more than 100 per cent which the gold dollar commands is to be found in the fact that the farmer has to part with twice as much eotton, wheat and corn to secure a dollar as he did a few years ago and that the merchant has to sell twice the amount of goods to realize the profits that he formerly

This being the case, anything that tends to further increase the demand for gold-thereby increasing its valueinterferes with the rights and privileges of the people and should be prohibited by law. If a state law can accomplish the result, so much the better.

This is why the message of Governor McLanrin is so timely and so important It strikes at an evil that has been growing very rapidly during the past few years and that will continue to grow and develop unless the people of the state, through their representatives, put an end to it. As Governor McLaurin aptly says, the public interest is involved in the result of these contracts. Why? Because every gold contract demonetizes and therefore discredits, so far as that debt is concerned, an equal amount of silver coin and is a direct denial of the right of the government to impart the legal tender quality to money.

The number of these contracts has been steadily growing for several years, and the increase has been so rapid of late as to demand the serious attention of those who represent the interests of the people. By this insidious means the efforts of the money power to increase the value and purchasing power of gold is more than supplemented. The silver that is uncoined has already been shut out of the mints and demonetized, thereby depriving the people of this country of the use as money of this large amount of capital, and now the gold contract is brought to bear to demonetize and discredit as debt-paying money the silver that has already been coined.

For this reason the gold contract is as serious an attack upon the interests and welfare of the public as the demonetization of silver. It destroys the value of the silver already in circulation as debt-paying money, abrogates the legal tender quality of the gold dollar and thereby makes gold more valuable and harder to get.

This, of course, is the policy of those who own the gold that is available for debt-paying purposes. They do not deal in goods, in commodities and in the products of human labor. If they did they would employ their experience and their undoubted talents in making these articles more valuable than gold. But having the gold at their commandevery dollar of available gold in the civilized world is controlled by less than a thousand bankers and bondholdersall their efforts and all their talents are directed toward making gold more valuable than the products of human labor.

This increase in the value of gold, which has been brought about by the demonetization of silver, is now supplemented by the gold contract, which insidiously discredits and demonetizes the silver coin that is already in circulation. Every gold contract that is entered into increases the demand for gold and makes it more valuable, thereby placing additional burdens on the shoulders of those who have debts to pay and commodities to sell.

Viewing these gold contracts, which are opposed to sound public policy, Governor McLaurin advises the legislature of Mississippi, in pursuance of the reserved right of the states to make gold and silver legal tender in the payment of debts, to enact a law declaring that the gold and silver coin of the United States shall be legal tender and that the law shall apply to all debts hereafter contracted.

This would be a good law, not only for Mississippi, but for all the states. It would help put an end to the insidious effort that is now being made to demonetize and discredit the silver coin of the United States.

As to a New City Hall.

The movement by the city council of Atlanta to get new quarters for the city government is very commendable. The present quarters are not suita-

But we do not think the citizens of Atlanta would favor the purchase of grounds and the erection of a new city hall building at great expense. The objection urged to this proposition is that it will increase taxation to go to this expense and in ten or fifteen years any building that might be adequate now for the purpose of a city hall would then be too small and other arrangements would have to be made, and it is a fact well understood that a building that is adapted for a particular purpose-as a city hall would have to be if built-could not be sold for half of its cost in the event other arrangements had to be made. Take, for instance, the courthouse property in our city. If the county of Fulton had to dispose of that property tomorrow it could not get half of its value, because the building could not well be adapted to other purposes. How long a building sufficient to meet the wants now required would do of course depends entirely on the prosperity of the city. It probably would not be more than ten years before the city would outgrow the present require ments and possibly require twice as much space as is now needed. Besides this, if the city can arrange to get sufdoubled its value. This result is to be ficient quarters on a lease, with the right of renewal, it will save an immense amount of money by the right to tax the property which it would not have in the event it spent the money and made the improvement itself. Our council men should work to keep taxes down Nothing will induce people to invest in real estate quicker than this. If we could decrease our rates of taxation even a small per cent it would induce further investment in our city and bring capital here more rapidly than anything else. That Atlanta property is the safest investment in the south is well

> If the city erects a building such as it wants now it would cost at least 25 per cent more than it would private individuals to do the same work. This added to the further fact that we lose the right to tax it, renders it important that whatever arrangement our council makes for new quarters should be on the basis of a lease instead of a purchase and further expenditure of money. When Atlanta gets out of debt and desires to spread itself, there will be time enough to look for permanent quarters in the shape of public buildings owned by the city.

While we approve the movement to secure suitable quarters for the city, we do not think it would be a good move to make a permanent investment of the kind suggested now. We have good business men in the council who are certainly interested in the prosperity of the city, and we have faith in these men, that they will look carefully into the situation and do what is best for the city.

What Daniel Manning Did.

A correspondent at Eufaula, Ala., who signs himself "Bimetallist," says: "In your issue of February 27th, editorial page, second column, under the head of "Good Advice," you quote from The New York World: 'If Mr. Carlisle cannot nerve himself to this point, as Daniel Manning did,' etc. Now, what did Daniel Manning do and when and where did he do it? Please give this information to quiet the souls of some monometallists, and oblige."

Daniel Manning was Mr. Cleveland's first secretary of the treasury. He was a true bimetallist, a genuine democrat and a man of courage. Moreover, he was thoroughly acquainted with the aims and character of the men who were then, as they are now, trying to discredit silver as the money of final payment

Secretary Manning was from Albany, and when he took charge of the federal treasury the men who have been raiding the gold reserve during the last four years thought they had things pretty much as they wanted them to be. They began to raid the gold reserve, and do did not approve. Mr. Manning saw through their little game. When he did see through it he was equal to the situation. He sent word to the Wall street bankers that the next demand they made on the gold reserve would be paid in silver-that silver was a part of the lawful money of the country-a part of the "coin" supply in which the notes and bonds of the government were payable.

This was very disturbing news. delegation of New York bankers made haste to call on Mr. Manning, and he took occasion to inform them in the plainest and most unequivocal manner that any effort on their part to unnecessarily disturb the reserve, which was intended to maintain an equilibrium between our various forms of money. would result in silver payments. The bankers went home and informed their brethren of the situation, and within a few hours the associated banks of New York city were sending gold to the subtreasury to be exchanged for greenbacks.

This is why the gold reserve not only remained undisturbed but gathered strength during Mr. Cleveland's first administration. Rather than sacrifice the interests of the people and of the country, as Mr. Carlisle has done, Daniel Manning would have sacrificed the supposed interests of the banks and the bondholders.

But he knew well that there would be no need of sacrificing any interests. He knew that, rather than force silver payments, the banks of New York would have strained their resources to supply the treasury with gold; that each and every one of them would have used all ts influence and all its capital in protecting the gold reserve.

Whether Mr. Carlisle knew this or whether he cared we cannot say. Exlusive gold payments were ordered by Mr. Cleveland, and they have been kept up until more than three hundred millions of the people's substance has been sacrificed to the greed of those who have been and are still raiding the treasury.

And the end is not yet. Since the 6th of January, when the hundred million bond issue was announced, nearly $50,000,000 in gold has been withdrawn from the treasury and only a fraction has been exported. The rest has been used in paying for the bonds.

The End Is in Sight.

Nervous people who have been fearing that we might have a war with England over Venezuela and Spain over Cuba may now put on their nightcaps and retire to rest.

The news comes from Wilmington that the mighty state of Delaware has been aroused, and it has determined to put an army in the field, subject to the order of President Cleveland, in order to resist the encroachments of foreign powers.

It is not often that we hear from Delaware. It is most generally discussed over a juicy peach, and sometimes the Philadelphians have occasion to berate the tardy natives of that state when they come in late with the morning's supply of vegetables. But now all this is to be changed. The peach-grower, the cabbage-raiser and the okra-peddler, generally have taken on military airs. and when the mighty legions of the state of Delaware file past the national capitol the assembled statesmen will breathe a sigh of relief, for they will know that now our country is safe and the flag will wave in triumph wherever the Delaware troops

Upholding the Bar.

The practice of the law is an honor able profession, and in the hands of its leading exemplars in Atlanta it is sure to take a high place. Unfortunately in all new cities a class of men are admitted to the practice of law who look upon it as a mercenary business rather than an honorable profession, which is but an arm of the court for the attainment of the ends of justice. It takes time for the bar of a new city to purge itself of undesirable elements and to wipe out those names which should not be upon the rolls. Atlanta has pride in the majority of her lawyers. They are honorable men seeking by the highest standards to lift their profession and to add dignity to the courts before which they plead These men may be trusted to get rid in time of those people, whose names are in the minds of the public, who re sort to dubious methods in the practice of their profession. The lawyer should never be the accomplice beforehand of the criminal-he should never be a breeder of litigation-his profession should stand on higher ground.

The Constitution is glad to see-tha an improvement is in progress and feels assured that the lawyers of Atlanta may be trusted for the completion of this work.

Parceling Out Africa.

The defeat of the Italian army operat ing in Abyssinia, by King Menelik, suggests a parallel between the occupation of the American continents four hundred years ago and the present partition of Africa. The masterful races which at presen control the European continent, drove before them and either utterly annihilated or amalgamated the inferior races which they found in possession of that continent. Through fifteen hundred years of occupation these people grew in strength until the borders of their dominions were overflowing with human beings. In their midst was developed the arts and sciences and the highest type of civilization. It was the neces sity of these overcrowding millions which impelled the voyages westward out of which resulted the discovery of the American continents. Behind these people, to the east, was left the older races of Asia and Africa, with whom the Europeans had no idea of a conflict It was to the westward that their faces were set, and when, guided by Columbus, the new land was discovered, the adventurous spirits of Spain, of Portugal, of France and of Great Britain sought the wilds for fortunes, and later, for homes. The Portuguese secured the vast empire in Brazil, which has but known financial institution which ofecently thrown off its Portuguese emperor. The Spaniards seized the eastern shores of South America, from Patagonia on up to the isthmus, through Central America and Mexico, the West Indies and the western half of the North American continent. The English planted their colonies from Cape Cod to the James river and as far south as the mouth of the Savannah. The French entering the continent through the Gulf of St. Lawrence, followed the waterways of the great lakes to lake Superior, and descending the waters of the great Mississippi river they went southward until they reached their colony of Louisiana.

All of these occupations were not made without fierce struggles with the natives. The Portuguese and the Spaniards first carried on a war of extermination, which was found unsuccessful because of the disparity of numbers, when the Spanish and Portuguese colo nists made common cause with their Indian neighbors and expelled the soldiers of the home country from their borders. England at first looked upon her colonies as subjects of booty, but the American revolution taught her that Englishmen carried with them their rights and were as ready to fight for them in America as in England. The consequence was that though England lost her American colonies they did not pass from under control of men of English tradition, and have since grown into a great nation. The lesson learned by Great Britain was turned to good account, as it has taught her to mend her colonial system so that she does not now possess a single colony in which the citizens do not vie in patriotism with the most enthusiastic Englishmen The French movement took on more the nature of exploration than of colonization, and the strange spectacle is presented today that out of the vast territory which once yielded obedience to France she has left behind her but one single successful colony-that of Quebec, and that is French only in the language, manners and customs of its people, its government having become part of that of Great Britain.

Slowly, during the four hundred years that has seen America grow from a wilderness into a continent of great nations, we have now reached the culmination when Cuba, which, with the exception of Porto Rico, is the only remaining colony of Spain, is struggling masterfully for freedom from the mother country, and only a few years more will give practical force to the Monroe doctrine, which served Europe with notice that she must look elsewhere for disposal of her over-crowded population.

Strangely enough, events have led to conditions which make this change possible. People still living remember the glowing stories of Mungo Park, who had penetrated the darkness of Africa and brought back the evidences of savage peoples and great natural resources. He was followed by Livingstone, whose seventeen years of self-imprisonment within the jungles opened the eyes of civilization to the strange continent which was so full of gloom and yet so attractive to the imagination. Then came Stanley, the discoverer of Livingstone, who added the journalist's pen to the zest of exploration and who finally succeeded in making the face of Africa as familiar to the readers of the day as was that of America. Even before the work of Stanley. Europe had begun to take possession of the dark continent. England was established in Cape Colony in the south, France had taken posession of Algiers and Spain had also occupied a part of the northern coast. The revolt of the Zulus against England made the situation acute and this was followed by a quiet partition of the entire continent among the powers of Europe. The arrangement was one by which each power agreed upon the slice which it would allow to the other, and each one was to proceed upon the conquest of its piece at the time when most suitable for itself. Abyssinia fell to the lot of Italy, and Italy, it seems, has had the most difficult task, for the Abyssinians are a people with a history and with national pride and they are somewhat more civilized than the westerners have given them credit for. To all this, however, there can be but one end. Africa is peopled by an inferior race. The over-crowded millions of Europe, being no longer encouraged by their rulers to come to America, nor, indeed, welcome here, are now turning their faces toward Africa. Before their march the African people must melt away as did the Indians before the same forces on the American continent. In Africa, as it was in America, there is presented the picture of valiant chiefs naking brave stands in defense of their homes and their lives, but no effort that they can put forth can avail them. They may have justice on their side, as it was undoubtedly on the side of the Indian chiefs who fought against white aggression upon our continent, but the march of civilization is irresistible. Before it an inferior race cannot stand up and show its face. It must retreat deeper and deeper into the interior, being slain in battle, losing numbers by epidemic, melting away-until not a trace of their existence shall be left.

Then we shall have upon the African continent new nations and new peoples, demanding their places in the congress of civilization, pushing out older governments, bringing in new issues to attract the attention of the world, and relegat ing Europe in time to the new civilization which will control the world, having its center in America, Australia and Africa.

Atlanta's Good Credit.

While the government of the United States is borrowing money at interest varying from 31/2 to 4 per cent, it is refreshing to know that the city of At lanta gets what it needs on a straight 3 per cent basis.

By resolution of the last meeting of the council the city is authorized to negotiate a loan of $200,000 from the Lowry Banking Company, the rate agreed upon being 3 per cent-a remarkably low rate and one illustrating not only the excellent credit of the city but speaking volumes for the well-fers is to the city. Atlanta's credit is rock-ribbed and gilt-edged, and if there is another city in America which can get money at this rate of interest, at this time, we do not know of it. Under the direction of the finance committee of the council, of which Mr. H. T. Inman is chairman, Atlanta's finances have never been managed more satisfactorily than now, and the last 3 per cent loan reflects credit on all parties interested in its negotia-

The publishing of the code is a work of some magnitude as well as a work of great importance. The action of the state officials, in calling for competitive bids, meets general approval and it certainly brought good results, securing as it did an exceedingly low bid.

It is especially gratifying to note that an Atlanta house secures this important work. To have had it go outside of the state might have reflected upon the facilities or the enterprise of Georgiaand she is lacking in neither.

EDITORIAL COMMENT. Augustus Thomas, at the Lotos Club dinner given in New York city recently for Channey M. Depewe told a story about the neat manner in which a guest who was invited to speak at a dinner, without no-tice, evaded the issue. The dinner was one which Mr Denew and General Horace Porter had each made an address. When the speaker was called upon, he said: "I want to tell you a story. There once lived in the west a parson. He had a large parish; in fact, was the regular circuit rider of the district. He was away from home when twins were born to him. When he got back the attending physician tipphysician tip-turning down into the room, and the coverlet, showed him the rosy, sleeping babies. The preacher looked at them long and earnestly, and then he turned to the doctor and said feelingly: 'Doctor, they are both fine boys. Judge John I. Hall, first, assistant atorney general of the interior department, reached Atlanta yesterday morning from Washington. Following so closely upon the return o Secretary of the Interior Smith to Washington, the visit of Judge Hall to Georgia at this juncture is considered to be quite significant. The state democratic executive committee meets on Saturday and it s rumored that Judge Hall has arrived to take up the unfinished work of the secretary of the interior in shaping matters in a manner which will be acceptable to the gold standard wing of the party at Washington.

"I have just come for a few days' rest," said the judge yesterday, "and will spend most of my time at my home in Grif-During the past month quite a large number of Georgia employes of the interio department have visited Georgia and the nusual number coming home at the same time has provoked considerable interes During his stay in the city last week Secretary Smith was in daily conference with the visiting officials and Judge Hall's return to Washington immediately after the arrival of the secretary at Washington is considered to be a part of the programme then outlined-whatever it is. It is said among other things that Judge Hall will give his immediate attention to the legislative race in his home county in the hope that Spalding will send a repre sentative who will be en rapport with the gold standard programme. It is further said that the situation in Spalding at the present time is not such as to give enouragement to the fact that a representative of this line of thought can be elected, and if the rumor is correct it is for the purpose of straightening out this tangle that Judge Hall has come to Georgia.

The fact that his visit is timed to cover the meeting of the state executive committee also indicates that he may have some business in a quiet way in shaping

The meeting of the executive committee on Saturday will be a most interesting one, the main question for settlement being that of one or two conventions. Those who favor only one convention do so with the idea of concentrating democratic strength and energy and confining the primary action of the party in one primary and one convention, thus bringing out full democratic vote and submitting all questions to the people at the ballot box. If this plan is adopted there will be no county mass meetings, but a general primary will be held in which the ballot box will be opened in every militia district of the state, just as in a regular election.

If two conventions are held the much abused mass meeting system will no doub be resorted to again, and under this system a few men can shape the action of their respective counties without regard to a general expression from the people at the ballot box.

As matters now stand the committee is largely in favor of one convention and one primary and there seems to be no doubt that such a course will be adopted at Saturday's meeting.

In but few of the states will two conentions be held and in the southern states t is probable that in not one will two primaries be held. The democratic execu-tive committee of Tennessee is in favor of out one convention and its members have ced, while in Virginia and Alabama have already acted and called but bama have already acted and called but one convention. In Pennsylvania, the state of Mr. Harrity, the chairman of the national democratic committee, but one convention has been called, and the same is true of Indiana, many of the strongest leaders of both elements of the party in the latter state having adopted the one convention course in the hope of bringing out a full vote thus concentrating the energy of the party.

The action of the Georgia party is watch ed with interest. The suggestion which seems to have taken hold of the democratic leaders of that at the primaries which nominate representatives to the legislature the voter designate upon his ticket the candidat for senator whom he prefers, seems to meet with very general approval. The fact is the suggestion is not a new one with th Bibb county people, for it has taken hold in other states and in some has already

The advocates of this method of sub mitting to the people argue that if this were done-if the democratic voters were given the opportunity of designating whom they prefer to represent them in the senate—much of the popular clamor against the present method of electing senators would be done away with. That clamor comes unquestionably from the belief that it is entirely too easy for political manipulators to handle the representatives in a legislative body, and there have been unquestion ably many instances of men being selected to the United States senate who could not possibly have got there had it been left to the vote of the members of their party in their respective states.

Of course this does not apply to Georgia alone, though there may have been some instances of the kind in the state. Throughout the country there is a growth in the belief that the members of the upper house of congress should be selected by the popular vote. The tendencies in some sections—perhaps it would be better to say some states-to select men as senators simply because they possess barrels which are on tap for the benefit of politicians, has been very largely responsible for this; but even without these causes, the impression has become very strong that the senators should be brought in closer louch with the people. It is certainly good democracy to have the people themselves name their representation that body as well as in the lower The people can be trusted. It is their

The press of the state, with here and the press of the state, with here and the pressure on record as there an exception, has gone on record as strongly favoring the consolidation of primaries and conventions with the idea of doing away with a great deal of need-less strife. The primary for the senator-ship has been for a long time a popular idea with a great many democratic news-papers, who argue that nobody except a few aspiring politicians who could not stand the test can be hurt by such an innovation and the people would be very much better satisfied if this system were inaugurated.

Itemust be gratifying to Speaker Crisp and his friends to see the strong expressions of indorsement which his letter announcing his candidacy for the senate is receiving. This comes from not only his political friends but from his opponents as well. The gold standard people recog-nize Judge Crisp's high ability and many of them indicate that in their own ranks there is a strong disposition to regard him pre-eminently the man for the senate and many people who do not agree with him on this question would vofe for him, recognizing his sterling democracy, his great ability, and his long service in the interests of the party, all of which combined has made him one of the national leadhas made him one of the national leaders of the party.

The Augusta Chronicle predicts that Charles Frederick Crisp will be the next senator from Georgia. In a strong editorial The Chronicle speaks of Crisp's great abil-ity as a presiding officer and as a debater; then tells of the offers of lovern in tendering him the position and Senaing Bacon's offer to retire from the race for the long term in Judge Crip's favor if the latter desired to accept the appointment. "From a high sense of public duty to his party and his country." says The Chronica. "From a high sense of nume duty to his party and his country," says The Chronicle, "Speaker Crisp declined the great honor and dignity of a sea in the senate. This should be remembered to the credit of Judge Crisp. Few men would have voluntarily declined such an offic. While Judge Crisp has no exclusive right to the office of sen-ator, he has strong chims upon the people of Georgia. As he has ristinguished musel, honored Georgia, and defended the principles and policies of the democratic party in the house of representatives, so will be continue to do in the several section. tinue to do in the state of the United States if honored, as w believe he will be with a seat in that bod by the legislature which meets in Atlanta next October and which meets in Atlanta next October and elects a successor to Geeral John B. Gordon. No one will question the Integrity, the ability and the capacty of Hon. Charlest F. Crisp. He is a man of fine presence and great dignity. His high baring, his smiling Anglo-Saxon countenance and his beautiful and the saxon in the saxon with the saxon Italian hand, that is raised with the of a courtier, will make him a notal of a courtier, will make him a notate use in the most notable, if not the most august, legislative body in he world. How Charles F. Crisp will measure up to the mental stature of any of his pontemporaria, and when elected to the senate, as we believe he will be, he will be the peer of any senator in that body. There are other distinguished Georgians whose names are mentioned in connection with the connec mentioned in connection with the office of senator. In what we have written we do not intend to pre-empt the field for Judge Crisp, or to detract from their high talent and recognized ability. Their merits appreciated. What we have written about Judge Crisp is from our knowledge of his public career, and because of his devotion and of his long and faithful and disand of his folig and hatting and da-tinguished services to his party, his state and his country. There is no place wher-ever duty called him that he has not responded. From Appomattox to the speaker's chair he has performed his duty, and orne himself in every field of action as h comes a man of purpose, courage and conviction. We think we make no rash assertion in taking the public into our conf and stating for its information that the name of the next United States senato from Georgia is Charles Frederick Crisp."

Mob May Attack Them.

Vigorous opposition has arisen among the able negroes, and should the entire plans of the believers be frustrated before tomorrow morning by an organized mob attacking the house of worsh.p, it would not a surprise to many. It is known that the colored women who have not fallen victim to the eloquence of Smith, intend to take the matter in hand tomorrow unless he takes his flock and flies away.

Last night two negro children, a boy and girl, nine and three years old, respectively, were found in a house, No. 221 Martin eet, locked up. They were abandoned by their relatives Tuesday afternoon, and had not had anything to eat for more than twenty-four hours, except a few scraps left in the house. DR. NAT HARRIS DYING.

THE WELL-KNOWN PHYSICIAN SUBMITS TO AN OPERATION.

Appendicitis Was Taking His Life When He Insisted Upon the Knife.

Dr. N. O. Harris is lying at the point of death, the result of an operation for appendicitis.

At 4:15 o'clock this morning a half dozen physicians were around his cot in Dr. Holmes's sanitarium, on Spring street, anxlously watching the desperate fight going on between life and death.

There is no hope for his recovery. The incision was made at midnight and was rendered absolutely necessary by a thoroughly developed case of aggravated appendicitis, one of the worst cases, Dr. Holmes states, that he has ever encoun-

Only a Day or Two Ago. With Dr. Harris the malady developed Monday, but it was twenty-four hours later that appendicitis was suspected.

On Sunday Dr. Harris was out and apparent good health. Monday morning he was at his office, but late that afternoon he went home feeling badly and in a short time retired.

He has not been up since. That night he suffered a good deal and the next morning some of his brother physicians were called in.

The Malady Develops.

During the day symptoms of appendicitis developed until it became apparent that an operation would have to be performed. It did not take him long to realize his condition and it was he himself who suggested an operation and insisted upon it. As the day wore on and his suffering increased, he became more emphatic in his requests to be subjected to the knife. Dr. W. S. Elkin, Dr. Hunter P. Coope Dr. William Perrin Nicolson Dr Floyd McRae, Dr. Davis, Dr. J. B. S. Holmes and Dr. C. C. Greene were called in and to them it was easily apparent that the operation was necessary.

Dr. Harris heard the conclusion stoically and advised the operation.

Removed to the Sanitarium. The physicians determined to use the knife about midnight, and at 10:30 o'clock Dr. Harris was placed upon a lifter at his home, No. 21 East Cain street, and by a half dozen strong men was carried to Dr. Holmes's sanitarium. About midnight he was placed upon ar operating table with the surgeons and physicians mentioned around him.

Dr. Clem Greene, a friend and associate of Dr. Harris from boyhood up, administered the ether. Dr. Holmes used the knife.

In less than an hour the operation was completed and Dr. Harris was conscious But those about him were all of the opinion that his case was almost, if not wholly hopeless. The operation showed that the abscess

The building will probably have a marble front or marble trimmings. The cost of the building complete will be upwards of half a million dollars. It will be a handsome addition to Atlanta's fine structures. A cut of the proposed building has been published in The Constitution. The contract will probably be let in a day or two. A number of iron, brick and marble men are here to get in on the work.

THE STATE'S DEPOSITORIES. Banks Named by the Governor To Receive the County Funds.

Major Jim Warren was busy yesterday sending out notices to the banks named by the governor as state depositories. An order was passed by Governor Atkinson yesmorning naming the following banks as state depositories and ordering the tax collectors of the various counties to place the funds therein: Southern Bank of the State of Georgia, Savannah, Blackshear bank, Griffin Banking Company, Citizens' Bank of Valdosta, Bank of University, Athens; National Bank of Columbus, Bank of Thomasville, Neal Loan and Banking Company, LaGrange Banking Company and the Bank of Waycross.

Mayor Pro Tem. Hirsch Will Go Back to Hot Springs.

Hon. Joe Hirsch, mayor pro tem. of Atlanta, will leave this afternoon for Hot Springs, where he will remain a month. Mr. Hirsch's physical condition is better today than it has been for years, while his general health has improved more his general health has improved more satisfactory than his most sanguine expectations could have anticipated. Though stronger and better than his friends thought to find him on his return, Mr. Hirsch is by no means satisfied and goes back with nothing like a police commissioner's race in front of him. He will be away at least a month, maybe Duncan's Days of Life Are Fast Slipping Away.

NO JURY AFFIDAVITS FILED

The Evidence Against the Condemned Man Said To Be Stronger Than the Petitions in His Behalf.

Unless active measures are taken today or tomorrow in behalf of Adolphus Duncan it is very probable that the negro will die on the scaffold a week from tomorrow. Saturday afternoon Governor Atkinso leaves for New York and he will be absent from the city for several days. Before he returns to the city the day of death fixed for the condemned man will have passed. The indications are that unless affidavits ire secured from the jury which convicted Duncan the governor will not exercise executive clemency and will allow the man to be hanged according to the terms of the sentence pronounced at the last term of the criminal branch of the superior court. The papers which have been placed in the hands of the governor contain some strong testimony against Duncan and the very fact that the affidavits and petitions of the jurors are lacking may in a measure de feat the application for pardon.

It has been said that there are just no grave doubts as to the granting of a pardon the strength of the application which is now in the hands of Governor Atkinson In fact it is almost a foregone conclusion that Duncan will be hanged on the 13th inless a pardon is granted on a petition of the jury, which has as yet not been placed in the keeping of the gov

Duncan has but a few more days of life inless the governor interferes and exercises xecutive clemency.

In fact even now the scaffold, grim and oreboding, is about ready to be placed in position and in a short while the dang-ling rope of death will be fixed ready for the tying of the knot. It has been stated that the affidavits of the jurors may secure the condemned man his tife. The statement of the solicitor general and the opinion of the judge of the uperior court carry much weight with hem, but it is said the governor wished to have everything brought to his attention that can be found. Foreman Renfroe, of the last jury which convicted Duncan, has unhesitatingly stated that Duncan is an innocent man.

"There is no man in Atlanta who is any nore innocent than that negro," said Mr. Renfroe several days ago. "Though I was a member of the jury which convicted him, I must say that had I known at that time what I know now. I never would have agreed to the verdict. It would be, in my pinion, a shame for the state of Georgia execute Duncan for a crime which has not committed.'

Solicitor Hill Makes a Plea. Solicitor Hill has makes a strong plea for the life of the condemned man. When he appeared before the governor he stated that he believed there was a grave doubt as to the guilt of the man and wished that a pardon might be granted and that his life might be spared.

"I could not sleep, governor," said he, "if I thought Duncan was to be hanged. I prosecuted him just as faithfully as I could, but I have learned that much of the evi-dence cannot be depended upon and I do not believe the prisoner is as guilty as the testimony made it appear."

Notwithstanding the eloquent plea of the solicitor and the carefully prepared affidavits of many parties, the governor seems to be hesitating and in the meantime the precious moments of life are slipping by.

A Card from Mrs. Landis. I wish to correct a mistake in Satur-day's paper, as to the identity of a woman that has taken an interest in the negro Duncan's case.

This woman, Cora Addington Landrum, hails from Pine Log, or Adairsville, whence she was subpoenaed to appear in Atlanta for the negro, but was not put on the stand. She then drifted down Decatur street, where she served as a waitress. She was on hand at the last trial and could easily have been summoned. The effort to make it appear that her testimony is newly discovered should have no weight.

A GRAND RALLY OF TEMPERANCE WORKERS NEXT WEEK.

Eloquent Speeches by Dr. J. B. Gambrell, Rev. S. P. Jones and Dr. J. G. Gibson.

There will be a grand rally of temperance people in Atlanta next week and the occa-sion will doubtless be one of political significance.

A call has been issued signed by the officers and members of the Georgia Prohibi-tion Association and heartily indorsed by Grand Chief Templar Frank J. Sibley, Grand Secretary H. L. Cook, and Mrs. W. C. Sibley, the president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

This rally of loyal advocates under the banner of temperance reform will be one of the most important gatherings of the kind ever held in Georgia. The exercises of the rally meeting will be held at the Moody tabernacle and will be inaugurated next Wednesday evening by Dr. J. B. Gambrell, the president of Mercer university, in a strong speech for tem-S. P. Jones will address the meeting in one of his characteristic speeches. This will be followed by a stirring and eloquent appeal from Dr. J. G. Gibson on Thursday evening. The friends of temperance in Atlanta are looking forward to these meetings

Will Swear In. Captain James W. English and Mr. Harry Stockdell, two members of the board, as well as two members elect of that body, will corner Mayor King in his office this morning.

During the morning hours Mayor King passes in his city hall office the two gentlemen will call to qualify as their own successors. probabilities are that the two gentlemen will call together and swear in at the same time. It will be a quiet matter of the day without any red tape or brass bands.

Side by side the two gentlemen will listen to the repetition of the oath by Mayor King as they noid up their right hands. Then they will sign the oath which is in bound volume, and the gentlemen will be fully pledged for another three years' term on the board. PROPERTY IN INMAN PARK TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION.

The Building Up of Edgewood Avenue and the Growth of East Atlanta. The East Atlanta Land Company, who own a large number of lots in Inman park, have decided to sell all their property in that growing suburb. These lots, it is understood, will be sold at auction to the highest bidder about April 8th. This sale will be an event which will enlist the interest of every real estate dealer and owner in this city and every prospective home owner in Atlanta. A Constitution representative called at Mr. Hurt's office yesterday to find out exactly what his company proposed to do. but found that he had left on the vestibule for New York. It was learned, however that the sale would take place and that it would be the real estate event of the year, inasmuch as every lot owned by the company would be sold. One of the directors in speaking of this sale yesterday said, "Yes, it is true, we have decided to sell every lot the East Atlanta Land Company owns in Inman Park. We have developed that property and made it as desirable for homes as any to be found in any part of the city, and the fact that there is a constant and increasing demand for it has induced us to arrange for this sale. Now, we are not only going to offer these lots for sale to the highest bidder, but are positively going to sell them to the highest bidder. In all the auction sales heretofore conducted by the East Atlanta Land Company there has never been a lot bid in. Every sale has been genuine and we propose in the coming auction sale to let the person or persons bidding the highest take the property."

Much of this property is the most desirable in Inman Park and it is doubtful if there will ever be another such opportunity not only for investment but to secure a suitable lot for a home as can be obtained at this sale. Inman Park is a most artistic and beautiful place and the fact that Edge-wood avenue, the main street leading to it, is rapidly building up will make that part of the city the fashionable residence locali ty in Atlanta.

This sale will no doubt attract considerable attention, not only from the citizens of Atlanta but from the various throughout the state, inasmuch as Inman Park is said to be the creme de la creme of Atlanta's real estate.

THE BLUE WINS.

MEMBERSHIP CONTEST AT THE Y. M. C. A. CLOSED LAST NIGHT.

Captain Elleby, of the Literary Club. Puts in Some Good Work at the Last.

The membership contest that has bee running for about six weeks at the Young Men's Christian Association closed last night at 10 o'clock, and the team from the literary club was victorious. For several days the gymnasium side has naintained a good lead and yesterday morning they were ten points ahead, but Cap-tain Elleby, of the Blues, was confident of victory, and came in at the last moment with seventeen new members, which is a one day's record that has been unprecedented in the history of the contest.

The venture has been a great success for the association and exactly one hundred the association and exactly one hundred and three new members were secured. The Blues brought in fifty-three and the Orange of the gymnasium fifty. The contest has been close and exciting throughout, and if all the new members pay their dues the Young Men's Christian Association will be just $1,030 ahead as a result of the unique venture.

The Origin of the Contest. The contest originated in the fertile brain of Professor B. C. Davis, chairman of the of Professor B. C. Davis, chairman of the membership committee, about six weeks ago. The directors of the association have struggled for a long time with the problem of how to interest the old members in securing new ones. Various schemes were tried, none of which came up to the expectancy of the board. Finally this membership contest was proposed, in which two teams were chosen from the members, the team having secured the largest numbership contest was proposed, in which two teams were chosen from the members, the team having secured the largest number of new members by a certain time was to receive a banquet from the association, at which the victors were to be attended by the defeated. This scheme was immediately carried into effect and the young men interested in the contest have worked for new members as they have neven worked before. Every store and factory in the city has been visited by the enthusiastic workers who have zealously extolled the many advantages of the Young Men's, Christian Association, trying to induce young men to place their names on the membership roll.

The score from the very first has been remarkably close, as at no time has one team had a greater lead than five points over the other with the exception of yesterday when the orange was ten ahead. The two captains, Mr. Elleby, of the blue, and John Willey Carrie of the orange baye.

over the other with the exception of yesterday when the orange was ten ahead. The two captains, Mr. Elleby, of the blue, and John F. George, of the orange, have marshaled their forces with wonderful ability, and if the leader of the gymnasium team had not been out of the city yesterday the score might have been different. The boys in blue deserve a two-fold credit for their victory. The literary club is only a small organization, numbering about thirty members, while virtually the whole membership of the association is in the gymnasium. The orange has had two workers where the blue has had one on this account, and the successful team deserves an immense amount of credit for serves an immense amount of credit for their victorious work.

The Closing Scenes.

All day yesterday there, was a great deal of excitement in and around the building. Nobody seemed to understand the tactics of Captain Elleby. He had been apparently Nobody seemed to understand the factics of Captain Elleby. He had been apparently asleep ever since Saturday, for not a single point had been registered for the blues up to yesterday afternoon. Many thought he was saving his ammunition until the last, and this theory seems to have been correct.

Yesterday morning the boys of the blue were blue indeed, for they were ten points behind, which was the largest lead during the contest. By noon this lead had been decreased to seven, and by 6 o'clock to four; but a few minutes later the orange began to hustle and ran the score up to nine ahead, and Elleby's heart almost stopped. He began work again, though, with renewed energy, and by 9:30 o'clock the score stood, orange, 50, blue, 47.

There were only fifteen minutes left in which to win. Elleby flew out on the street and in less than ten minutes brought in three new members, while during his absence J. L. Richmond added three more, making the score at 10 o'clock: Blue, 53, orange, 50.

City Will Probably Take Action Against the Consolidated Today. How the Case Stands.

At noon vesterday Mr Joel Hurt with a grip in one hand and a smile of triumph on his countenance stepped on the vesti buled and got off to New York At 11:30 today the time for replacing the tracks upon Capitol avenue and Auburn avenue will expire. When the time comes Mr. Hurt will be speeding on to New York, far from the scene of the recent disturbance. When Mr Hurt left no orders were issued by him to have the tracks replaced. The peremptory resolution of the city council has been shoved away in a pigeon hole and will probably be resuscitated when the case comes up for final trial.

If the residents of Capitol avenue expect to wake up this morning and find the tracks once more in place and the cars rolling along on regular schedules will be disappointed. Mr. Hurt has decided to leave the matter for the courts to de cide, and it will probably be some time before the final issue comes.
"I leave that matter entirely in the nands of the attorneys, of the road," said Mr. Hurt. As far as I am concerned, if the citizens win it, I will have the streets put in good condition, but the matter of outting the tracks back is another ques What Will the City Do?

It is expected that some action will be taken this morning by the attorneys of the Consolidated. As to what they will do the attorneys will not say, but it is said by those who are familiar with the case that before noon today an injunction will be filed against the city, upon the ground-that action by council was too hasty. This will hold up the matter until the hearing of the injunction filed by the citizens of Capitol avenue, which will come up be-fore Judge Candler Saturday at 9 o'clock. This petition, which was presented last Saturday when the tracks were demolished, asks that a permanent injunction be granted against the road, preventing interference at any time with the schedules and requests that mandamus proceedings to the effect that the Consolidated replace the tracks immediately, be taken. It is thought that the matter will finally be concluded then. In the meantime under instruc-tions from the council unless some action

The resolution upon which the city attorney will base his procedure is as fol-

"Second. That in case the Consolidated Street Railway Company fails to restore the tracks on either of the said streets and put the same in proper condition after forty-eight hours' notice from the city council, the city attorney shall commence proceedings in the court at once to either force the company to comply with this resolution or for the purpose of forcing the forfeit of the said company's franchise of lines upon streets where the tracks were removed."

It is a question whether the company It is a question whether the company has violated its contract with the city in taking up the tracks and abolishing the

How a London Religious Periodical Worked American Newspaper One of the cleverest free advertisements ever worked was that which has just been sent out by a London religious periodical and at considerable expense to it.

Yesterday morning The Constitution received a cablegram via cable connections of the Postal Telegraph Company. It was marked "142 words, press rate," and it proceeded to tell of a prophecy of the aforesaid London religious periodical concerning the approaching "translation to heaven of 144,-000 living Christians," which interesting event, it said, was being preached in London and which it claimed to have prophesiseveral years ago, but which, it further, announces, for the past two years it has maintained would not occur until March, 1903. It seems that the periodical sending this cablegram to The Constitution prepaid, and with its name conspicuously interwoven throughout the cablegram, worked the same dodge on other newspapers with better results. Not understanding the cablegram when it reached The Constitu tion office, information was asked of Mr. Closs, as to what it was and where i came from. He replied that it was a pre paid cablegram sent from London. It seems that the cablegram has been sent to several other papers and some of them, not appreciating its advertising features presented it with conspicuous display as "a special cablegram," one going so far as to say that it was "probably the longest ever sent to a Georgia newspaper,' notwithstanding the fact that The Consti tution only recently received several hundred words daily from its special staff correspondent in Cuba. The religious periodical which has so successfully worked several southern news papers is an extensive advertiser, and i is so adroit at the business that most American newspapers are familiar with its methods. It seems, however, that some were not, but it does seem a pity that the enterprising London publishers should not have at least been given the credit of paying for its own cablegram instead of having had it presented as "a special trans-At-lantic cable," etc. We are almost a month from April 1st, otherwise the matter might have been considered a joke. As an advertiser our London religious

New York, March 4.—Sugar directors are expected to meet the latter part of this week to act on the dividend. Recent trade conditions have put an end to all hope of an extra dividend. That hope has been deferred until the next dividend period. We are told that unless trade conditions improve very materially in the next three months there will be no change in the rate at that time.

It has been noticed lately that Missouri Pacific, which was weak when the general market was strong, has been firm while other stocks have been weak. Brokers who have watched the trading say this is the result of orders which seem to be given with the intention of ac-cumulating stock. One house has been the principal the buyer. McIntyre & Wardwell's Cotton Letter.

New York, March 4.—Prices ran up 6 points early in the day on most of the list, owing to a rise in Liverpool, light receipts at many southern points, a small estimate for New Orleans tomecrow and local covering. The trouble, however, was that it was too much of a local market, and local realizing in the later business effaced the early improvement, or most of it. The close was reported weak with prices about the same as at the close of yesterday. The sales were 168,900 bales. March closed 3 points lower, for there is some apprehension that there may be a revision of the differences on light grades, which form a considerable percentage of the stock hyre. Of course, if the difference in favor of that grade is reduced, or seems likely to be reduced, there will be a greater incentive to sell them if the anti-option agitation has been removed in congress, but it is believed to be purely perfunctory on the part of a few congressmen to satisfy the demands of misguided constituents. If ever cotton needed the speculation it needs it now. The bear is one of the most reliable buyers that the cotton world has. The manufacturer may hold off indefinitely, but the bear, the man who has agreed to buy, must come to time and toe the mark with specified limits. Futures in Liverpool advanced 3 points and the lost. The manufacturer may hold off indefinitely, but the bear, the man who has agreed to buy, must come to time and toe the mark with specified limits. Futures in Liverpool advanced 3 points and then lost 1 point of the rise, closing quiet and steady. New Orleans advanced 2 to 3 points, lost this and declined 3 points and then railied. The receipts at the ports were 13,459 bales against 14,208 last week and 15,086 last year. Total thus far this week 59,147 against 63,559 last week. St. Louis received 142 against 236 last week and 598 last year. Quite a number of March notices were circulated, supposed to be against high grade cotton. Spots here were unchanged; sales, 100 bales for export, 482 for spinning and 200 delivered on contract. Mobile declined 1-16c. Savannah sold 1,043, Augusta 553 and Mobile 200. Augusta received 499 against 249 last week and 778 last year; Memphis, 510 against 249 and 788, and Houston, 1,774 against 1,991 and 3,355. Houston expects tomorrow 1,600 to 1,800 against 2,490 last year. New Orleans expects 1,300 to 1,000 against 4,216 last week, 4,211 last year and 2,996 in 1894. In Manchester yārns were dull and irregular and cloths easier. We are likely to have a local scalping market for a time with no very large fluctuations in prices unless there should be some serious political disturbance, and barring anything of this kind we believe it to be advisable to purchase on the breaks for quick turns.

Closed steady; sales 45.100 bales Semi-Weekly Crop Statement. New Orleans, March 4.—Semi-weekly movement at thirteen leading interior towns: For 1896, receipts 17,573; shipments 25,974; stock 312,684. For 1895, receipts 39,599 bales; shipments 47,169; stock 322,713. For 1894, receipts 15,722; shipments 24,386; stock 265,261.

New York, March 4.—Private advices from Liverpool this morning corroborated the public advices in reporting a better feeling in that market and a disposition the public advices in reporting a better feeling in that market and a disposition to be hopeful as to an improvement in prices. The market here responded in a measure and during the forenoon has been more reassuring to believers in higher values. Sellers of yesterday have lost their belligerency and the temper during the forenoon has been decidedly bullish, while the volume of business has been somewhat curtailed. Port receipts are moderate and the estimates for New Orleans tomorrow light. With any increase of demand present prospects are that there would be an advancing market on the filling of orders to buy. During the afternoon the market was easier in tone, and in the last few minutes there were large realizing orders which lowered prices several points, the market closing weak at 7 points decline from the top and 3 points lower than yesterday.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, March 4.—(Special.)—The expected reaction took place today, but neither in extent nor duration did it fill the hopes of the bulls. Liverpool was rather more encouraging and May, which yesterday sold down to 7.36, rallied in the earlier trading to 7.50. That was the highest. The market was nervous and unsettled during most of the day, the fluctuations ranging between 7.45 and 7.49 for May, but in the last hour the pressure of offerings was more than the market could stand and May broke to 7.42, closing at the lowest with the tone weak. After the close the weakness was more pronounced and May was freely offered at 7.41. It looks now as if nothing but a substantial rally in Liverpool can prevent prices from going lower. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, March 4.—Cotton advanced 6 points, but reacted and closed weak with prices about unchanged from yesterday's closing. The sales were 168,900 bales.

Today's features.—Higher prices prevailed for a time, owing to a rise in Liverpool, little port receipts, a small New Orleans estimate and covering of shorts, but later on the advance was lost owing to heavy local selling. A good many March notices were circulated, supposed to be against high grade cotton, and this caused a widening of the differences between March and later months, for a good proportion of the stock here is composed of high grades. ening of the differences between March and later months, for a good proportion of the stock here is composed of high grades, and it is feared that the differences between the grades may shortly be revised, whereby the value of high grades was in some degree impaired. It is a local market, and both shorts and longs realize on moderate turns. The anti-option bill is again to the fore, but no serious results are anticipated. Bears have a ruse. They are at times the best buyers in sight; they are far better friends of the market today than the New England manufacturers. Without the speculator the manufacturer would take the planter by the throat and soon reduce him to their terms.

The Dry Goods Market. New York, March 4.—In the dry goods market, although actual business in cotton goods has not shown any material exone sould have been some increase in the general demand. The market is still very irregular for staples, but will improve. Some sellers are showing rather more steadiness than of late under selling restrictions from their miles.

Wheat Freely Offered at High Prices but the Close Was Firm and Higher.

Chicago, March 4.—It required constant and close attention to follow the devious ways of wheat today. Bull news was needed to ass.st prices, while short sellers were timid and apprehensive, although showing a little more courage than recently. At the start a moderate decline took place, selling being prompted by larger northwestern receipts and by indifferent Liverpool cables. Expectation that Bradstreet's receipts and show a good decrease in stocks prevented great recessions, however, and even caused prices to rally. Wheat was freely offered at the enhanced value and another decline took place. When the report was received at noon a bulge took place, after which the action was erratic, the market finally resting at firm figures. A decrease in the world's visible supply for the week of 1,152,000 bushels and another of 1,533,000 bushels on the Pacific during March was given by the agency referred to. May wheat opened from 66%, to 66%, sold between 67 and 66%, closing at 66%, digher than yesterday. Cash wheat was steady.

Corn—Up until noon corn was influenced. but the Close Was Firm and Higher.

principally by the action and tone of wheat, but after that the trade was more impressed by Bradstreet's report of an increase of 1,334,000 bushels. Prices did not decline much, but the feeling was far from strong. May corn opened at 30½c, declined to 30½c, closing at 30½c, &c under yesterday. Cash corn was weak and ½c per bushel lower.

The oats market was quiet and the tone rather easy. Bradstreet's gave an increase in available supplies of 246,000 bushels. May oats closed a shade under yesterday. Cash oats were easy and ½c per bushel lower.

Provisions—The number of hogs arriving at the yards continues less than the estimates and prices at that place show more change. This fact naturally tends to help product and the market this morning was firm. The selling was better than the buying, however, and an early advance was soon lost and further declines followed. At the close May pork and lard were each 567½c under yesterday and May ribs 5c lower.

The leading futures ranged at follows in Chieve.

during the first hour there was quite free seiling by professionals, local scalpers and holders. News was of a nature to encourage this. The weather was favorable, foreign advices easy, northwest receipts large and the report of the secretary of the Dulish exchange, showing that the spring receipts of wheat there in six months had exceeded those during the entire season of 1894, was very bullish. Offerings, however, soon became exhausted, the wheat had become absorbed from some source, the market had evidently been oversold, and there was a quick bulge of nearly ½c., which was helped by Bradstreet's statement showing a decrease of over 2,000,000 bushels in the world's visible. This, however, was lost when it became known that there was no cash business today, but mostly recovered gain near the close. The market has been largely a scalping affair, with transactions confined mostly to local traders. Although offerings below 65%c, were quickly absorbed, where more orders came from was a puzzle to the scalpers, and a source of discomfort to the bears.

Corn has been weak with free selling by local parties. Cables were lower, and the cash de nand not so good as during the past few days. The feeling still continues bearish.

The provision market was another dis-

The provision market was another disappointment to holders. During the past two days receipts of hogs have fallen 16,000 under the estimate and prices have averaged about 20c. higher. Yet the market at the close tonight really shows a decline for two days, certainly not a very encouraging feature. Packers seem disposed to sell on the railies, and there is very little support from the outside.

that time the contract will be let to the lowest and best bidder. As soon as the contract is let work will be begun and the bridge will be placed in position as rapidly structure and will be built on the most modern lines. The entire length of the bridge will be 180 feet and will be but one span. Strong and substantial stone abut-ments will be erected at either end and from these everlasting pillars the strands of steel and iron will be strung. There will be no timber used in the construcexcept for the flooring, and it may ossible that before the bridge is comed the commissioners will decide to oor the structure with stone flagging

The present structure has been considered be unsafe for several months and the commissioners have received many peti-tions for the erection of a new bridge. The petition upon which action has been aken was presented at the last meeting the commissioners and the committee roads and bridges was authorized to restigate the matter and see what would be the work that would be necessary. This mittee to advertise for bids and report the next meeting what had beer

The Plans Have Been Drawn.

The plans for the new structure have en drawn by Mr. Grant Wilkins and are dy for the contractors to figure upon. The bridge will be built entirely of streel nd will be 180 feet long-thirty feet longer han the bridge now spanning the stream The floor of the new bridge will be eight feet higher than it is at present and this will be entirely above the highest mark ver reached by the water.

The width of the bridge is to be thirty feet and on each side substantial approaches will be built. The road now is in a bad condition and the hill from the th side to the bridge is very steep and difficult for the loaded teams to ascend in

The old structure is to be entirely torn the construction of the new bridge, but will be allowed to remain simply to act as a breakwater to protect the new stone

"The bridge will be an elegant strucsaid Mr. Grant Wilkins, "and will of the best bridges in the county. It is to be erected entirely of steel and will be almost everlasting in its construc-

Just what the cost of the bridge is to be I can't say, as the committee is now investigating that feature. Bids will be asked for and no doubt nearly all of the principal bridge builders of the country will make bids." To Be Built This Spring.

Work on the new structure will com mence as soon as the contract is let. On account of the law regulating the adverising of county improvements, it will be sixty days before the contract can be let, but as soon as this term of days expires the work will be begun.

It will require several weeks to complete the bridge, as the contractors will have to make and practically build it before shipping the material to Atlanta.

Every piece will be cast at the shops and when the steel is shipped to Atlanta. when the steel is shipped to Atlanta every plece will be marked and will be ready to be piaced in position.

piaced in position. construction of the new bridge will mean a splendid driveway from the city to Buckhead, and may also mean that the road will be paved with chert or some other pavement in the near future.

Hard Luck, This. Emory Manning, a negro convict who has seen serving a term of one year in the Ful-on county convict camps, was taken to Awrenceville last night to be tried there for burglary. The negro committed the crime before coming to Atlanta, over a Year ago, and at the expiration of his term in this county, a day or two ago, the Gwin-nett county officers were notified to come after him. Last night a deputy sheriff of winnett reached the city and carried the egro back home with him. He was lock-d up at the police station since Tuesday morning and went to his fruit stand he left his clothing in his room, fastening the door as usual. About an hour afterwards he saw a little negro walking alons

As the negro boy stepped up to the stand he asked the fruit dealer if he would not like to purchase some clothing. He said that he had a cheap job lot which had been given him in payment for some work. The fruit man began looking at the clothing and quickly recognized the the clothing and quickly recognized the things as his own property. Quickly grab-bing the pickaninny by the arm he held him until Officer Berry arrived and took charge of him. During the day a warrant was sworn out against Jim and he will now have to stand the course

Chief Verner and His Mounted Force Now Quartered on Marietta Street. The county police force, Captain A. M. Verner, chief, and eight mounted officers, have moved into their new quarters on Marietta street just outside of the city. The new home of the police was fitted up lice force two or three years ago the head quarters have been located at the county chaingang camp near the new waterwork The quarters there were entirely inad quate and too far away from the center of the county and the city. Some time ago it was decided to move the quarters closer to the city and a handsome home for the officers was fitted up near the Marietta

The mounted force has been a splendid organization to capture offenders out of the city and crime has been greatly lessened by the police. Formerly gangs of boys and men gathered in old houses and in the woods on Sundays and at other times to gamble, but since the mounted officers have been patrolling the country the practice has been broken up. It is a rare thing now that a gang of gamblers are caught outside of the city,

The county force do an important work out of the jurisdiction of the city police force. They answer calls for officers sent from every locality in the county and often make important arrests in the city when the city officers are not in sight. Many escaping criminals have been cap-tured while endeavoring to get out of the county by the officers.

FEBRUARY A BUSY MONTH. Splendid Record of Building in At-

Building Inspector Frank Pittman yes terday morning completed his report for the month of February. More money was expended for building favorable, and the prospects are that this will be the greatest building year in the history of Atlanta.

The report shows that sixty-six permits were applied for and granted. Twenty-seven of these were for frame dwelling houses, at a cost of $27,755. Twenty-seven

Only three permits were granted for brick stores, the total cost of which will be $100,075. Three frame stores were built, at a cost of $700. A permit was granted for one public building; this will cost condemned and accordingly torn down The largest part of the money was expended in the sixth ward, and this ward leads for February, as it did for January. Most of the large buildings are located in this ward. The small frame buildings are divided among the other wards.

BUSY SESSION OF THE BOARD

Several Questions of Importance to the County Came Up for Consideration and Action.

The board of county commissioners met in regular monthly session yesterday morning The committee on roads and bridges was authorized to advertise for bids for the new bridge to be erected over Peachtre creek.

The committee which has but recently re turned from a tour of jail inspection stated that no report was ready. This report, it has been said, will be heard at a meeting which is to be called within the next ter or fifteen days for that purpose. Though the committee has about decided on the plan on which the new jail is to be built, the work of formulating a report and placing the sketch of the building on paper has not been accomplished. As soon as this is done a report will be in order and the plans will probably be submitted to the ommissioners at the same meeting.

The committee on the almshouse was in structed to look into the condition of Frank Joseph, the well-known negro missionary, who is now said to be in a critical condiion. The old minister has been ill for several weeks and on account of his services the county is anxious to do something to relieve his sufferings and furnish him comfortable quarters and any medical attention which he might be in need of. The committee will investigate his condition and circumstances at once and if he is eeding anything it will see that his wants are supplied.

An Investigation Asked For. Tax Receiver Armistead has written the board of commissioners a letter in which he asks that an investigation be made at once in order to determine whether or not he is indebted to the county. The letter was written on account of the reference made to his office in the general presentments of the last grand jury.

The letter, which was read to the commissioners yesterday, is as follows:

"I desire to call your attention to the general presentment of the grand jury of this county in January last, with the report of a special committee, composed of Mr. R. S. Rust and Mr. J. C. Courtney, attached thereto, in which said committee took occasion to say that I have been overpaid on account of receiver's commissions for reason of duplicate tax returns on digest for 1834 and 1895, and directing your honorable body to take such steps or adopt such measures as will cause the tax receiver to refund the same. Now, if I am due the state or county anything on said account I am ready at any time to pay the same. Therefore, I ask you gentlemen to thoroughly investigate and, if possible, ascertain whether or not such is the case, and if you find upon such investigation that I am not indebted to the state and county as stated in said o the state and county as stated in sa eport, I shall ask at your hands comple indication as against such charges."

Attorneys Must Pay Taxes

The attorneys who have been delinquent in the payment of the annual fee of $10 levied by law must be beware, as the coun ty commissioners yesterday instructed Tax Collector Stewart to proceed to collect these amounts, which have been allowed to run over from year to year.

The matter came up when the insolvent list of Tax Collector Stewart was presented to the board with the request that the list be allowed and approved, so that he could make a settlement with the county. "I have looked carefully through the list,"

said Mr. Forrest Adair, "and I am gratified to find it is the smallest ever presented to this body. Mr. Stewart has done well this year and is to be congratulated on his work, as the taxes have been collected closer than ever before. "There is one thing, however, which wish to bring to the attention of the commissioners. That is the large number of attorneys' names which appear on the list. They owe a tax of $10, which is levied acording to law for an annual fee. "Every lawyer whose name I have seen on this list is, in my opinion, able to pay the amount and I do not think they should be allowed to escape the payment of the sum. I move that Mr. Stewart be instructed to go ahead and collect these amounts. Mr. Spalding stated that he had been in-formed that the refusal on the part of an attorney to pay this tax was a good ground for disharment from the practice of law and stated that if the delinquents were pre-sented to the judge of the superior court some action might be taken which would result in a large amount of this money be-Mr. Spalding also complimented the worl think it was right to turn the list again to the tax collecor, after he had failed to collect the amount the first time. "This is giving him too much work to do and I object to the principle. I think it would be much better to give the accounts to some attorney who would give his whole time to the matter and bring action of law

County's Notes Still Out. Although the trade made by the county with Dr. Hope for the purchase of a farm has been annulled, the notes given by the county are outstanding and have never been

"I think these notes should be returned," said Chairman Collier yesterday, "and I do said Chairman Collier yesterday, "and I do not much like the situation. This thing has been allowed to rock along for more than a year and it should be straightened out."

The lold board of county commissioners purchased from Dr. Hope a lot of land and gave its notes in payment for the purchase money. This trade was afterwards annulled, but the notes have never been returned. The amount of the notes is about $18,000.

The notes were said to be in the possess. The notes were said to be in the possession of the Atlanta Home Insurance Company, where they had been negotiated. Dr. Hope has said that as soon as he could get them in his possession he would return them.

It was ordered by the board that unles the notes were returned at an early date action would be taken to secure them. Those County Maps Discussed.

Mr. Adair stated that the county had had printed at a great expense a large number of maps of the county, which had been done for the convenience of the public. "We decided to sell the maps at $10 each, but none were sold at that price to amount but none were sold at that price to amount to anything. The price was then cut down to $5, but I am informed that only six were sold at that price. Suppose we give some of them away?" suggested Mr. Adair.

It was decided to give the various county officials, the Young Men's library and several other organizations a map each.

After the election of several commissioners to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of the former office holders the board adjourned.

NO CLEW FOUND.

Mrs. Logan's Assailants May Never Be Known and Arrested. Be Known and Arrested.

The police have been unable to discover any clew which promises to lead to the capture of the parties who assaulted Mrs. M. L. Logan at her home at the corner of Hulsey and Mechanic streets some time Tuesday night. It appears that the case will remain among the unsolved mysteries in police circles.

The officers are strongly of the belief that Gus Logan, the son of the woman, committed the assault and robbed his mother of all of her money. He has assaulted his mother before and when arrested Tuesday he wore a shirt which had blood on the bosom. His mother contends, however, that it was not her son who knocked her down and tied her on a bed unconscious. She plead for his release Tuesday night and on account of the inability of the officers to discover sufficient evidence against him he was allowed his freedom. PINKERTONS WILL COME. Only Three Applicants for Examina tion Before the Body-Was a Very Busy Session.

IN SESSION YESTERDAY.

The state medical examining board held its first meeting of 1896 in the senate chamber of the capitol yesterday.

The meeting convened at 10 o'clock
Dr, W. V. Robertson, of this city, vice president, in the chair. It being the first meet ing of the year new officers were elected.

ter, secretary.

The meeting was a lively one and the The meeting was a lively one and the session occupied from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the evening. On account of the limit of study necessary for admission to practice in the state being changed from two to three years, there were only three applicants yesterday before the board for admission to practice—Messrs. Buchamp, Bates and Yance. They were subject to a rigid examination by the board, which they passed in a highly creditable manner. The state board is composed of the following physicians: W. V. Robertson and M. T. Saiter, Atlanta; M. K. Philips, of Bremen; J. F. Harris, of Dalton, and J. Frank Harris, of McDonald.

Grave Words from a Great Man.

Give Them Their Due Weight if You Suffer from Nervous Debility of Kindred Ailments.

Pinkerton detective agency in Atlanta will be up before the board of police commis-sioners at its meeting Monday night next.

Persons afflicted with nervous debility or nervous prostration, with all the ills that follow—such as sleeplessness, impaired vigor of body or mind, dyspepsia, lassitude and wasted tissues—are, very naturally, doubtful of relief. Doubt is one of the symptoms accompanying their malady. They have tried so many so-called specifics they find it hard to have faith in any. But when New England's great son, Dr. Edward Everett Hale, famous everywhere as author, editor, preacher, essayist and lecturer, tells the afflicted that he knows of a remedy that is what it claims to be doubt disappears. Dr Hale has made the following announcement, after careful inquiry and in the full knowledge of what his words mean. The announcement is from the office of The Boston Commonwealth, of which Dr. Hale is editor in chief, bears date of December 23, 1895, and reads as follows:

"I have been much interested in the Kola nut is a tonic. In Africa, where the Kola or Guru nuts grow, the natives eat the fresh nuts to prevent hunger, thirst and exhaustion. For some years the medical profession has given Kola much attention because of its medical qualities, but heretofore the difficulty has been in getting the fresh nut in an available preparation so as to retain the medical properties This difficulty is now overcome by that remarkable establishment, the Eureka Chemical & Mrg. Co., of LaCrosse, Wis., which has put upon the market a very efficient and highly approved preparation. I am assured by a careful inquiry among leading physicians and personal friends who have used it, and in whom I have the utmost confidence, that Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets are invaluable in insomnia and all nervous diseases.

always count on a full house in Atlanta.
All the records, even that of Mr. Moody himself, has been surpassed by Mr. Jones during the last few days.

Rev. George Stuart, who is aiding Mr. Jones in his revival services, has created a favorable impression upon the religious dic. Being associated with Mr. Jones and compelled to address congregations that assemble to hear the latter preach, the position which he occupies is not a pleasant one to fill and for that reason the at-tention which his hearers give him is both severe and critical. Notwithstanding this fact his sermons have been received with great favor and have yielded marvellous and manifold results.

Mr. Stuart is a tall sycamore in appearance and presents a commanding ure in the pulpit. His sermons abound in anecdotes and striking illustrations, and though his style is different from that of Mr. Jones it is neither lacking in the quality of humor or impressiveness. of preaching is distinctly his own. The devotional services in charge of Mr. Charlie Tillman have been one of the most enjoyable features of the meetings.

"Not a Cornstalk Revival." Mr. Jones preached one of his characteristic sermons at the First Baptist church yesterday morning. He began by referring to the weather out doors and gave the ladies in the congregation a timely lecture on the importance of prothemselves with wraps and cloaks. "I don't want any of you to catch pneumonia," said he, "and then charge the bill to providence. It's not the Lord's work, but your own want of sense."

Referring to the earnest purpose by which he was governed in holding these religious meetings in Atlanta, Mr. Jones went on to say that he was not conducting a cornstalk revival. "There is not much substance about cornstalks," said he. "You may gather up a big pile of them together and after you have set fire to the pile there will not be a handful of ashes left." substance about cornstalks,'

Jones denied that his meetings partook of such a character. He declared that his purpose was to undermine the rocks of sin and to plow deep into the subsoil. The subject of his morning discourse was the fragment of scripture: "This thing I will do." He urged the importance of having a fixed determination and declared that no enduring success had ever been ved in life without a definite aim and purpose to do something. The man who succeeded was not the man who merely said, "I will try to do this or that," but the man who said in the language of the text, "This thing I will do?" "I have no use for one of these fellows who nds to do a little of everything. Give These are the men who have made themselves immortal."

Mr. Jones applied his text in a most tian life and referred to such notable examples as Wesley and Whitefield and Spur-geon and Moody.

In closing his sermon Mr. Jones referred to the meeting of the Evangelical Min-isters' Association last Monday morning, and stated that most of the time had been occupied in discussing Sam Jones. "I did not ask to be indorsed by them," said "I only asked for their co-operation in my feeble effort to rescue souls from perishing and to claim Atlanta for God. Brethren let up stop criticising one another and try to help each other along. Let pray for his spirit to guide us into all righteousness." gething for Christ and let "Improve Your Opportunities." At Trinity church yesterday afternoon a large congregation gathered to hear Rev. George Stuart preach one of his strong, practical gospel sermons.

His sermon was chiefly addressed to Christians and he stressed the importance

God and bringing souls to Christ.

"There should be no formalities in religion," said he. "Suppose you should spy a young lady in the upper story of a burning house, would you wait for some one to introduce you before you hastened to the rescue? Then why should you stand to the rescue? Then why should you stand back on ceremony when souls are perishing around you."

Mr. Stuart closed his impressive discourse by referring to the tragic death of a young

Last Night's Sermon. Despite the inclemency of the weather at least five thousand people gathered at the tabernacle last night to hear Sam Jones.

From the 22d verse of the sixth chapter of St. Paul to the Romans he took his text, which ran as follows: "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord." From this text he went on to say that the majority of people were working for the devil and receiving mighty poor wages.
"The question of wages is the great question of the day as you all know," con-tinued Mr. Jones, "and if I was to ask any one of you to work for me for a year, a day or an hour the first question you would put to me would be, 'What do you want me to do and what wages will you give me?' yet you are all working for the devil and you are getting mighty poor wages.' On this line he proceeded to enumerate the awful gesuits of being a enumerate the awful gesults of being a slave of satin. "I tell you there is no neutral ground beyond the grave. You have to choose between hell and heaven. I don't believe in neutrality. I am either on one side or the other. Some of you say you are Christlans, but you are not members of the church, What kind of Christianity do you call that?

He then said in regard to politics that ne was neither a red-nosed democrat nor republican and would not be a populist, but was a consolidated prohibitionist.

"Strike on the devil, boys," he proceeded to say. "Strike on him tonight. There is one thing I am here in Atlanta for and that is to inaugurate a strike on the devil."

Mr. Jones dwelt on this subject, with the devil."

Mr. Jones dwelt on this subject with much earnestness and after remarking on the number of young men in attendance at the meeting, brought his talk to a close, after giving an invitation to all to come up and shake his hand.

Today services will be held as usual at the First Baptist church in the morning and at Trinity in the afternoon and at the tabernacle at night.

IN FAVOR OF THE STATE.

United States Supreme Court Decides the Carolina Bond Case. Washington, March 4.-The cases long pending in the supreme court of the United States as to the validity of the bonds issued by North Carolina, under ordinance of the constitutional convention of 1888, in aid of the Chatham railroad, have been decided in favor of the state.

The constitution of 1868 gave to the supreme court of the United States the power to hear claims against the state and recommend them to the legislature for appropriation if sustained. An amend-ment to the constitution adopted in 1863 took away this power. When plaintiffs took away this power. When plaintiffs in these cases asked the state court to pass upon their claims for the amount of bonds and coupons held by them, the court held that its power to do so had been taken away by the amendment referred to. The supreme court of 190 United States held that was no imparment of contract by the repeal of the power given to the state supreme court in the constitution of 1863. The judgment of the state court in favor of the state was affirmed.

The Middle Georgia and Atlantic Adds to Its Mileage.

OWNS THE EATONTON BRANCH

The Price Paid Is Private-General Manager Preston Is Buying the Property Up.

The Middle Georgia and Atlantic, which extends from Covington to Eatonton, has bought the Eatonton branch, which con nects Eatonton with Milledgeville.

The price paid is kept a secret for the present. The purchasers consider that they got the property at a bargain. The branch is twenty-one miles in length. General Manager J. W. Preston has been in Atlanta for two days buying rails and equipments. The iron on the twenty-one miles will be replaced with sixty-five-pound steel rails and new ties put down. The ties have been bought and the contract for the rails is practically closed. The company will get a new engine and is preparing to have the road in first-class shape by the end of the summer. This line is carrying considerable business to Macon from Atla ta by way of the Georgia road to Covington and over the Georgia again from Milledge ville. And as for Milledgeville traffic, the Middle Georgia is the strong line, as it is thirty-five miles shorter than any other route to the old capital. The line runs through a fine farming section, Newton, Morgan, Jasper, Putnam and Baldwin counties, which are hard to beat anywhere. A remarkable thing about the Middle Georgia and Atlantic is that it is without any bonded indebtedness. Mr. Preston i managing the company's affairs with excel-lent judgment and is bringing the property out in good shape.

ROADS AND THE COURTS. Some of the Recent Decisions of Judges

on Corporation Questions. courts are constantly adding ne laws to the statute books, legislating as well as canstruing the acts previously pass-ed by legislatures. Among some of the re-cent decisions which affect common carriers are the following: In Louisiana the sudden and violent pull-ng of a bell rope in a passenger car by an employes of the road for the purpose of taking up slack, whereby a passenger's eye was injured, is held to be "gross fault," within the code, for which the passenger In Kansas, in a suit by an employe for njuries received in using a defective appli-ance, it must be shown that the defendant knew of the defect, or that the defect was of such a nature, or had existed for such a ime, that, in the exercise of ordinary care, he defendant should have discovered it. The supreme court of New York rules that though a brakeman knew of an over-head bridge which had no warning signal, and that it was low, he is not necessarily charged with contributory negligence, it being occupied with the discharge of his duties, he took no notice of its near ap-

in a machine, which rendered the employment dangerous, may continue in the em-ployment for a reasonable time in reliance on the promise of the master to repair, unless the danger is imminent and obvious In the federal court it was held that a civil engineer in the employ of a railroad, charged with the duties of looking after the building and maintenance of bridges etc., assumes the risk arising from the absence of watchmen at a bridge on the road The supreme court of Texas decides that an employe did not fail to exercise proper care, who, working on a bridge and seeing large timber swinging toward him, could have stepped aside out of its way, but not having time to reflect, acted impulsively, tried to stop the timber with his hand and was thrown from the bridge and injured. In Louisiana a passenger on a train by pany for the purpose of inspecting the le vees protecting the road, could recover for injuries received through the negligence of the company.

In Kansas, one who knowingly takes a knows that there are no station facilities at its destination, cannot recover for in juries resulting solely from the company's failure to provide station facilities.

In New York in an action for injuries to plaintiff, a passenger on the defendant's electric car, the plaintiff claimed that, while he was sitting in a seat facing to-ward the front of the car, it suddenly gave a jerk and threw him off. The court ruled that such evidence was not sufficient to charge the defendant with negligence, as be not to throw the plaintff off, unless he was sitting in a careless manner, but to throw him against the back of the seat on which he was sitting.

HEATING FREIGHT CARS. The Germans Have Had Good Results

from Stoves Inside.

It is reported by a German paper that accessful arrangements for the prevention of damage to merhandise through excessive cold, have been experimented with on the railroads from Coblentz and Wiesbaden to Berlin. The winter of 1894-95, which was particularly severe through central Europe, was responsible for great losses of perishable freights in transit. Vegetables, fruits, beer, wine, liquors and mineral water suffered most. It was, therefore, proposed to heat freight cars carrying such perishable traffic, and up to the present time not a single case of a barrel containing liquids has suffered in transit while on these cars. A stove in the central part of the car, which is visible from the outside, reveals to the is visible from the outside, reveals to the inspector, whose duty it is to ascertain the temperature of each car at every station, whether he has to open the ventilators on top to reduce the heat, or whether new fuel ought to be introduced to keep up the fire and increase the temperature. A slight additional rate is charged, and as shippers prefer this increase to the uncertainty of the weather, the entire system is pronounced a success on all sides.

TWO PASSENGER STATIONS.

INDICATIONS NOW POINT TO COUPLE OF DEPOTS.

The Old One Will Stand and the South ern Will Probably Build a New One.

The new passenger station matter does not show much progress from week to week, but the little interest that is apparent is in the direction of two depots-one or the present site and a new one over at the East Tennessee's old station.

Certain things which have occurred of late point to this solution of the prob-lem: The Western and Atlantic is resolved to stay where it is, and the Southern is pretty sure to build a new station of its own. Then the New York and New Or-leans trains would run through the city and stop at both stations. The Southern's trains from Chattanooga, Birming-ham and Brunswick would enter its own station alone. The course of the other roads cannot be predicted with certainty, but it is likely that the Central and the Atlanta and West Point would hardly run past the new station without stopping. The Georgia does not give or receive any through cars from any road, and what it could do is a matter of speculation. The Western and Atlantic and the Seaboard vill continue to use the present site. Major Thomas realizes that the old station needs radical changes and improvements, and h will make them after awhile.

It is the opinion of some railway mer that two passenger stations would not be a good thing for the city. 'Chicago has Why cannot Atlanta have two?" asks a rallway official. 'A new station would build up the property around it just as the Wall street station has benefited the property in the heart of the city. What ob jections can there be to developing some other part of the city a little? There is no question that the erection of a new station over on Mitchell street would help property all around there, and at the same time would give the railroads more room for handling their trains. I think that you will see a new passenger station erected by the Southern within a year, but the state road will remain where it is."

ATLANTA HAS REFORMED. Passenger Men Have Experienced

Change of Heart. A few years ago Atlanta was a great disturbing point in the passenger business. But a change took place, and Atlanta has become a conservative point, and rates are well maintained here. More recently, New Orleans and Memphis have been the demoralizers. These two points have given the roads much worry.

At last, however, the New Orleans roads have signed an agreement which it is predicted will be upheld and stable rates are now expected to be maintained out of that Memphis has promised to do better. and if an agreement has not actually been made, it is promised that one will be pre-pared and put through before long. This makes the passenger men feel easier.

Changes in Railroad Circles. Montgomery, Ala., March 4.-(Special.) Fred Kirkland arrived here from Savannah today and assumed control of the local agency of the Plant system. Mr. Kirkland is a Montgomery boy and his many friends here are glad to welcome him back. Mr. Joe T. Mr. Medlin was exceedingly popular here and his departure is genuinely regretted.

Railway Notes. General Superintendent W. H. Green, of the Southern, left early yesterday morning for Birmingham and a trip, perhaps, to

The supreme court of Massachusetts has decided, the full bench concurring, that a railroad company cannot make an exclu-sive contract with an express company. General Superintendent Dunham, of the Plant system, is steadily letting out the engineers who are members of the brother-hood. About thirty have been dropped since the demand was made for a contract. The chairman of the grievance committee was the first to be fired, and since then the members have been dropped one and two at a time, until now every member at a time, until now every member who was prominently mixed up in the demand for a contract has been discharged. The brotherhood seems powerless to do anything about it.

What has become of the Seaboard's special train load of miners and brokers for Denver? They were to come back through Atlanta a week ago, but they appear to have been lost in New York.

Probable That the Railroads Will Ask for Protection.

QUESTION OF MUCH INTEREST

The Interstate Commerce Commission Suggests That Congress Enact a Prohibitive Scalpers' Law.

It is probable that in the near future the national congress will deal with the ticket rokerage question. It is said that the mater will be brought to the attention of the body, and an effort made to secure the adoption of a law prohibiting the business of railroad ticket scalpers.

The question is one of national interest. The railroad men of this section have been considering the matter for some time and one of them stated yesterday that the ultimate result of the war between the trokers and the railroads would be an appeal to congress to enact a law on the subject. The interstate commerce commission has only recently made an exhaustive report on the subject, concluding with the recomme dation that the matter be taken up by co gress and settled with fairness to the railroads. The commission condemns the busi-ness of brokers and declares it to be an il-legitimate traffic. The commission declares that the need of a national prohibitive ticket scalpers' law is apparent and that the question should be speedily acted on. It says that the business of the brokers is of ecessity interstate in its nature, and that the question is one for national government settlement, rather than for state legisla-Another important matter which likely be up, and one of wide interest to the railroad men of the entire country, is the fact that there is not at present a law on the statute books which makes it an offense to counterfeit railroad tickets or to sell tickets which have been counterfeited The commission calls attention to the fact that in order to punish counterfeiters of tickets, it is necessary to prosecute them for using the mails for fraudulent purposes The commission says that in view of the opportunity for wrong doing by the sale of spurious tickets they deem it of importance that congress enact a penal statute of proper scope and penalty. The railroad men of the country are preparing to bring the matters to the attention commission is an interesting document An advance copy of it has just been received in Atlanta by Mr. T. H. Hardwick, fresh from the hands of the printers. The report deals with ticket brokers, or scalpers, with gloves off. It says that the business is on the increase, rather than on the decrease and that it is unlawful traffic. In describing the methods of the brokerage busing the commission has this to say:

The Commission's Report. "In every city and in many of the smaller towns, offices are to be found whose proprietors sell railroad tickets to very many points at less than the published tariffs The streets are placarded with alluring ad-The streets are placarded with alluring advertisements, incoming and outgoing travelers are openly solicited, while in hotels and other public places, and not infrequently in regular railroad stations, the runners and agents of these clandestine dealers invite participation in transportation bargains, which, upon their face—to give them no harsher term—are an obvious evasion of the law. It is a matter of serious concern that the spirit and purpose, if not the letter, of the statute should in this respect be so widely disregarded. The purpose of all the regulative measures which have been enacted is to require every person to pay the same sum for the same service; yet this purpose is often defeated by these irresponsible agencies, which in one way or another furnish for certain travelers a recognized ticket which costs less than the price paid by other passengers. We can discover no legitimate field for the operations of the ticket broker. His occupation is essentially lawless; his activities have no legal sanction and are entirely at variance with any defensible principles upon which

PROSECUTION FAILED.

United States Had No Right To De tain the Bermuda. New York, March 4 .- The United States government has abandoned all claim of right to detair the alleged fillbustering eamship Bermuda and the lighter J. S. T. Thompson and their cargoes, except in the case of the explosive found upon the letter which, it is alleged, was packed in boxes

not marked as required by law. United States District instructed Marshal to this effect and the latter at once took steps to turn over the vessels and other property to the Cubans. The $4,000 in silver taken from the Bermuda was turned to the place from which had been taken, and charts, in-struments and other articles were also put where they were found, the purpose being to restore the vessel and contents to their where they were found, the purpose being to restore the vessel and contents to their exact condition at the time of, the seizure. As far as the government is concerned the Bermuda was practically free early this afternome, but there yet remained upon her the libel obtained by the J. N. Robins Company, dry dock and outfitting firm for about $1,109. The suit upon which this was obtained was settled shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the Bermuda is now free from all detention.

Lawyer E. R. Olcott, who represents General Garcia and his associates, who are awaiting examination on a charge of having violated the neutrality laws, said today that the seizure of the explosives upon the J. S. T. Stranahan would be contested upon the claim that the boxes were properly marked. The case will come up in the United States court March 7th. Late this afternoon Marshal McCarthy and deputies went on board the Bermuda and arrested Thomas Nelson, chief engineer; James Howden, second engineer, and C. C. Taylor, chief steward, to be held as witnesses. They were brought before Judge Brown, of the United States district court, who fixed the bail in each case at $500, and pending the filing of the bonds the men were detained in the marshal's office.

After waiting until 5 o'clock for bail bonds for the three men detained as witnesses, the marshal allowed them to go in the custody of their counsel, E. R. Olcott, who promised to produce them tomorrow morning.

Massey Charged with Misappropriating Funds-Others Implicated.

Waco, Tex., March 4.-J. P. Massey, un til February 15th last, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants' National bank of this city and C. W. Tucker have been placed under arrest. Massey is charged with misappropriating

Massey is charged with misappropriating $8,000 of the bank's funds, and W. R. Tucker and J. B. Tucker with aiding and abetting him. J. P. Tucker is at present in Chicago and his arrest has been ordered there. The transactions out of which the arrests grew, consist in the loans made by Massey to the Tuckers, which are claimed to aggregate $20,000, upon one of which the claim of $5,000 is based. The Tuckers are extensive cattle dealers and Tuckers are extensive cattle dealers and with Massey are widely known, and their arrest has caused a sensation here. Officers of the bank declare that its solvency will be in nowise affected and that the bank is prepared to pay all of its obligations.

signified, in their number and brightness that many years of good cheer and happi ness brought into the lives of many of ness brought into the lives of many or those about the gentleman in whose honor the dinner was given. Many appropriate and eloquent little toasts were proposed in the course of the dinner, which was in every detail of its generous elegance a just tribute to the honored guest. There are few men in the history of Atlanta who have proved themselves as practically pub-lic spirited and charitable as Captain Lowry. By his lavish hospitality and generous consideration of the stranger who en-ters our gate as well as his favored friends, he has done more than most men in the city toward establishing that reputation of genuine hospitality for which Atlanta is famous.

At the dinner were Mrs. Lowry and Captain Lowry's sisters, Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. J. H. Porter, Mrs. T. D. Meador, Mrs. Walter Taylor and Mrs. James Free man. Messrs, T. D. Meador, J. H. Port-er and James Freeman. The only guests outside the family party were Major and Mrs. Fitten, Mrs. Annie Reed Rhett, Mr. Hugh McKeldin and Mr. Charles Harmon.

Liebman-Landauer.

Last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. Landauer occurred the marriage of Mr. Edgar Liebman and Miss Matilde Landauer. The wedding was characterized by elegance in every appointment and was beautifully impressive as only a home wed ding can be. Although only the members of both families were present the assem-blage numbered seventy-eight guests and was an unusually large family party.

The drawing room where the ceremony was performed had as its central adornment a temporary altar of ebony exquisitely decorated in ferns and white carnations and under a canopy of palms and bride roses. Here the impressive read the service from the Bible placed upon the altar. Here, too, on a satin cushion were the betrothal rings exchanged by the contracting parties.

Mr. Liebman was attended by his brother, Dr. Frank Liebman, who acted as best man, and the bride's brother, Mr. S. C. Little Helen Landauer, the sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the only bridesmaid was Miss Esther Liebman, sister of the groom.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. S. Landauer, and was met at the altar by the groom who entered with his mother. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white brocade satin, the corsage embroidered in pearls and draped in rare lace. Her orna-ments were pearls and she carried white carnations. The bridesmaid and maid of honer wore daintiest gowns of thread cambric made made over white silk and trimned in thread lace.

After the ceremony the wedding party and guests were entertained at an elaborate dinner, where the decorations and menu were complete as to elegance. Banks of ferns were placed about on ebony and onyx stands, while bowls of white carnations completed the beauty of effect.

The violet tea given by Miss Lucie Stanton to her art class last Saturday evening at College Park was one of those delight-ful entertainments for which the people of this beautiful suburb are so noted. The decorations were of cut violets, and the affair was in every way enjoyable. Few localities about Atlanta furnish more social events than College Park, and these occasions are participated in by almost the entire population of this new and lovely city. With the two or three hundred lovely young ladles in the Southern Female college, added to those residing in the town, it is not difficult to congrerate an immense amount of beauty at short notice, and the gallant gentlemen of the town are easily attracted to these entertainments. College Park is fast coming to the front as the leader in those pleasant features of life that are found in social gatherings.

Miss Rebie Lowe, in speaking of the grand assemby ball which is the great occasion of Washington's gay season, describes it as quite the most magnificent affair she had ever; seen.

The ball is given every year at the Arlington hotel, every drawing room being thrown open for the occasion. The ballroom was a vision of beauty this season. The decorations were all in coleur de rose and the entire ceiling was covered with a cloudy canopy of rose-colored silk. This and other Florida points. Dawson, Ga., March 4 .- (Special.) -- One of the most charming home wedings that ever occurred in Dawson was that of Miss Lora Paschal, daughter of Dr. W. C. Paschal, and Mr. Theodore LeGrande Guerry, eldest son of Judge James H. Guerry. Rev. T. M. Callaway, of Lumpkin, performed the ceremony. The bride is a most beautiful young woman. Mr. Guerry is a young man of sterling worth. The bridal party left today for a trip to St. Augustine and of pink roses hung from this pink cloudy ay and the walls, windows, seats and recases were garlanded with smilax.

Flowers were used everywhere in marvelous profusion, but the most astonishingly other points in Florida.

Mrs. Rhode Hill and Mrs. Carrol Payne are in Florida.

A happy marriage which took place last night, was that of Mr. J. F. Bradley one of the handsomest and most popular fireman of No. 3 hose company, to Miss Flora Chamberlin, of New York state. Miss Chamberlin is a strikingly beautiful young lady, and Mr. Bradley is to be congratulated on his luck in winning such an accomplished bride.

The wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. H. H. Miles, 272 Luckie street, at 8:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Holderby. Quite a number of handsome presents were bestowed upon the happy couple by their friends.

"But with all the handsome dressing I aw there," said the Atlanta belle, I saw nothing that made me feel that the women of our city were the least bit behind in looks or in beautiful costumes. There was brhaps a greater number of dazzling jewes than we see here on state occasions. The bride is a young woman of beauty and many accomplishments, and has been the center of a large number of friends and admirers. She has many charms of character and disposition and the dignity of tomen equal those of any city in this country. I noticed," she went on to say, "the decrease in sleeves in these ball gowns, but not in street costumes. The ball dresses, most of them, had sleeves shorter and a bit smaller, perhaps, than we have been wearing."

Miss Lowe was beautifully entertained at Washington's famous Country Club, which is the especial delight of its members, who all take the greatest pride in its beauty and many comforts.

The luncheon given on this especial occation had a characteristic bunting decoration. manner and bearing that at once suggest the elegance and culture of her home surroundings. The groom is well known and universally popular in Atlanta, and occupies a prominent position among the young men of the business and commercial world.

A number of beautiful toilettes were seen at the wedding. A notably handsome wo-man of the decided brunette type was the mother of the bride, Mrs. S. Landauer, who wore a beautiful toilette of black brocade satin, the bodice trimmed in black chiffon and point lace.

Last night Mrs. Fannie Lamar Rankin gave a beautiful card party in honor of her kinsman, Dr. Bozeman, of New York.

The house was handsomely decorated in ferns, tropical plants and American Beauty roses, used in graceful profusion. The prizes were elaborate and the refreshments delicious.

Jackson, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—On the evening of February 21st the young people of Jackson met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Furlow, on Third street, and perfected the organization of a musical and social club, to be known as the Harmony Club. At this meeting the club adopted a social club, to be known as the Harmony Club. At this meeting the club adopted a constitution and by-laws and elected the following officers: Professor J. C. Blasingame, president; Miss Rosa Thornton, vice president; Mr. C. P. Rose, censor; Miss Sarah Bowden, secretary and treasurer. A very interesting musical programme was carried out. The club now has about thirty-five members, and no doubt a successful future lies before it. The next meeting will be held next Friday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. The New Zealand Herald, of January 15th, published at Auckland, contains some in-teresting information about the son of a well-known Atlanta citizen. The following cablegram, which it publishes from Port Darwin, refers to Hon. J. Langdon Par-sons, the son of Mr. Edward Parsons, one of Atlanta's old citizens. Mr. Parsons, of Atlanta, is an Englishman and came to this country before the war, locating in Atlanta and becoming the first coal deale who ever did business in this city. He continued in this business for years and fterwards entered the real estate business, n which he is now engaged. His son, Hon. Langdon Parsons, has been for several years a member of the South Australian parliament and, as will be seen from the following article in The New Zealand Her-ald, is now on an important mission to China and Japan for the South Australian government, and his report being on a ques-tion of national interest will be one of great importance. The Herald's cablegram om Port Darwin says:

"Mr. Parsons, a commissioner from South Australia, who visited the east in the in-terests of the colony's trade, reports that the volume of Australian trade with the far terests of the colony's trade, reports that the volume of Australian trade with the far east depends upon the approximation of freights from Australia to those ruling from San Francisco and Vancouver. In the Japanese capital there are abundant proposals for new undertakings and the nation shows a quickness and definess which augurs success. Mr. Parsons was appointed to represent the Eastern and Australian Trading Company, which, with a capital of £200,000, we recently formed at Hong Kong for the purpose of developing the Australian trade. Any trade with the east, he says, will only result where quality of goods and taste in packages are combined. One thing Australia can be sure of is that she need not fear an influx of Japanese labor, as the requirements for home industries and the development of Formosa absorb all the skilled and many of the unskilled men. Wages there this year are from 10 to 20 per cent higher than last, and continue to increase. The only surplus labor is that of women and girls, and that is unexportable. Japanese coolies can be obtained, but the rate of hire is much higher than for Pacific islanders or Indian coolies, and too high for sugar growing in Australia. Mr. Parsons adds they can come to Australia, but will not come in large numbers.

TO AN ATLANTA FIRM.

FOOTE & DAVIES WILL PRINT THE NEW CODE OF GEORGIA.

Many Competitors in the Field, but the Atlanta House Put Up the Lowest Bid.

At a meeting of the code committee of the legislature in the office of Governor Atkinson yesterday morning the contract for printing the new code was let to the firm of Foote & Davies, of this city.

This is quite a strike for the Atlanta house, as there were a number of bids received from all sections of the country.

These bids were all close together, but Messrs. Foote & Davies clearly underbid all entries and the contract was duly awarded to them. The contract was secured at $10.85 a page, which will make a total of about $27,000 for the three volumes, as it is estimated that the code will cover 2,500 pages.

The first volume will be issued about the 1st of May, the next in July and the last in September. This is the largest single contract for printing ever issued in the state and Messrs. Foote & Davies were showered with congratulations yesterday.

The work of the code committee is fin ished and the members have gone home.

The house was also discovered on fire a few days later, and the negro was accused of both offenses. The evidence was purely circumstantial. The charge of arson was dismissed, but Hall was bound over and was sent to jail in default of bond, for the theft.

SUMMER OPERA.

Atlanta Is Promised a Fine Season at the Grand. THIS IS SOMETHING NEW

Mr. DeGive Says It Will Be Put on in Splendid Style-Other Theatrical News-Attractions Ahead.

The Grand is to have a season of summer

The announcement was made vesterday by Mr. DeGive and the further announcement goes with it that the company will be the best Atlanta has ever seen. A lot of new operas will be produced and in every way the management will do all in its power to give Atlanta an ideal season of summer recreation of this kind.

"Yes, it is true," said Mr. L. DeGive, proprietor of the Grand, yesterday, when asked concerning the rumor of his arangements for a summer season. "Everything has been settled and the Grand will give the people of Atlanta the best season of comic opera which Atlanta has ever known.

"For several reasons it is impossible just now to give the details, but I can only say that the management will be in the hands of one of the best known managers of comic opera in the country, that he proposes to secure the best people who can be had for a summer season. He will produce a lot of new, bright operas, and will make the season all that the patrons of the Grand have a right to expect."

"As you know," continued Mr. DeGive, "I have never heretofore put on a season of comic opera in the Grand, though I have had a number of offers from managers who were anxious to make such a production. Recently I have had a large number of requests from patrons of the Grand for such a season, and it is in response to these requests that the determination to furnish comic opera and that the arrangements which I have outlined to you have been made.

"The Grand is indeed an ideal place for the production of comic opera. It is cool and pleasant in the summer time, and everything possible will be done for the comfort of our patrons. The gentlemen who have the matter in hand are thoroughly equipped to carry it to success and are in a position to spare no expense in making it a big success.

"No, I do not care to state now the exact date it will be opened, but you can say that the Grand's season of summer opera is an assured fact,"

"Paradise Alley." Perhaps the least frequented but the ost notorious locality in the great metropolis, Gotham, is Paradise alley. is in the heart of the densely populated tenement house district, the kind of place that a Dickens would love to visit in search of character, and the sort of locality that Edward Harrigan used to seek in search of material for his celebrated and humorous local sketches. To visit the alley without particularly profitable or joyful proceeding, as the inhabitants are very partial to their solation, and resent with anything but picisolation, and resent with anything but picturesque unanimity the prying intrusion of respectability. The alley is situated on what is known as Cherry hill, in the lower section of the city. It is more than a hundred years old, and tradition has it that some of the most noted politicians of the period, and of a past period, first saw the light in this place. It is this famous neighborhood that the latest characteristic musical comedy, "Paradise Alley," is founded on, and one of the scenes adequately represents it in all its delightful hideousness. The piece, with a really powerful company, will be at the Lyceum for matinee and night only next Saturday.

Harrigan Sale Opens. The sale of seats for the engagement of Edward Harrigan at the Grand, Friday and there was a good demand for them throughout the day. The indications point to a big business for the comedian. On Friday evening Mr. Harrigan will present for his opening bill, "Old Lavender," which has always been considered and accepted as one of Mr. Harrigan's best plays, and the comedian's portrayal of the old drunkard, with its humorous and pathetic touches, is undoubtedly one of his most successful achievements as an actor. The revival of "Old Lavender" in New York after a lapse of seven years was one of Mr. Harrigan's greatest of recent metropolitan successes. The play has been condensed, modified and brightened, thereby strengthening the attractive qualities of this famous production. Now, as before, the river front scenes are the most lifelike and interesting. Mr. Harrigan is supported by his own admirable company, in which several new faces will be seen this season. He brings with him all the scenery used in New York for the play to give it due local coloring.

At the Saturday afternoon and night performances he will present for the first time in this city his latest play, entitled, "My Son Dan," which has taken its place among the many successes from the pen and pathetic touches, is undoubtedly one among the many successes from the pen of Mr. Harrigan. "The Land of the Living."

On Monday night a new and successful melodrama by Frank Harvey, called, "The Land of the Living," will be presented at the Grand. The piece is said to be a meritorious one. The engagement is for two nights, with Tuesday matinee. The sale of seats opens tomorrow morning.

At these conventions free entertainment is furnished to all delegates by the school authorities and by the colored people of Tuskegee, and the day following the conference is devoted to the pleasure of the visitors. Before he leaves every delegate is provided with an abundance of literature for distribution in his section—leaflets and circulars treating of stock raising, poultry raising, dairying, bee culture, the raising of fruits, grains, etc., also treatise on how to build a schoolhouse, how to secure a horre with more than one room, how to hold a conference in your community, simple working plans for neat houses, etc.

A report from Tuskegee states that a large number of the delegates have already arrived and the indication is that the conference this year will be more largely attended than ever before. Many of those who have already arrived have come from great distances, some from the north and some from the west.

It now seems probable that the republicans and populists of Jefferson county, the largest in the state, will not co-operate in the August election. A meeting was held here yesterday and a great big row took place, and several leading populists kicked out of the traces. The bolters were led by Jerre Fountain, who has been for some time chairman of the executive committee of the populist party in this county. Though the meeting yesterday appointed a commit-tee of twelve to bring in resolutions for co-operation between the two parties in this tee of twelve to bring in resolutions for co-operation between the two parties in this county, to be reported back in two weeks, still the action of the committee will not be adhered to. Today some persons in sympa-thy with the co-operation idea boldly as-serted that the democrats were anxious that non-fusion be adopted and had put a bug in the ears of the leaders. soon be ashamed of themselves."

This looks as if "the silver craze is dead," doesn't it? And yet on last Tuesday The New York Herald, an abler and more important goldbug organ than the charming little Savannah Press, said:
"There should be a careful and early campaign of education if sound money is to win the day next November." Of course this means in goldbug vernacular "a careful and early campaign of boodle." The poor old weak-kneed silver craze somehow won't die like the goldbugs want it to do, notwithstanding the cuckoo Savannah Press, which doesn't seem to be on the inside of matters. If The Press was thoroughly up to date it would quit talking about the free silver craze being dead, for such utterances are now only used by fossil sheets which have got behind the procession, and instead it would be urging "an early and careful campaign of education" wills hoodle. be urging "an early and careful campaign of education," alias boodle.

It will be a reunion of ail of the members of the church and con-gregation as well as of the teachers and the pupils of the Sunday school, which is one of the largest in the city.

Tonight's entertainment is to be given under the direction of a committee on arrangements, of which Mr. Andrew J. rangements, of which Mr. Andrew J. Kiser is chairman. He has been working assiduously for the past few days for the success of the entertainment and says that a good crowd is expected tonight. Dr. Hawthorne, the pastor of the church, is likewise very much interested in tonight's meeting, and is anxious that the reunion should be largely attended by members of the congregation and the Sunday school. Worm's orchestra will furnish music and the committee on arrangements has had-contributed delightful refreshments which will be served by the ladies of the church free of charge.

The entertainment will take place at 7:30 o'clock and all who are connected with o'clock and all who are connected with the church, old folks as well as the chil dren, are cordially invited to be present.

Hotel Jackson To Reopen. The many friends of Mr. V. L. Normal the has so successfully managed the Me The many friends of Mr. V. L. Norman, who has so successfully managed the Metropolitan hotel the past two years, will be gratified to know that he has secured a lease on the elegant, new and up-to-date Hotel Jackson and will reopen it on the 15th instant. To all his old patrons Mr. Norman will extend the same rates they enjoyed at the Metropolitan, and he desires specially that they let the fact be known among all their friends that a hearty welcome awaits them at Hotel Jackson, just across the street.
